

Worldwide Census Of Armed Forces Proposed by West

French Disarmament Expert Says
Initial Information Necessary

Geneva —(AP)—The western powers today proposed a world-wide census of existing armed forces and weapons as a first step toward a disarmament treaty.

French disarmament expert Jules Moch made the suggestion on behalf of the five western delegations at another closed session of the 10-nation disarmament conference.

He said the control of any agreed disarmament measures would be an illusion without full information on the size and strength of existing armed forces.

Map Plans for New Satellite

Flashing Star Will Provide Accurate
Earth Measurements

Washington —(AP)—The United States plans to launch this year a flashing-star satellite that will help map the earth precisely.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration told about it today in its semi-annual report to President Eisenhower. The report covered the April-September 1959 period, but NASA said the launching may not be attempted until next fall.

Plans call for sending into an orbit a satellite that regularly flashes a light.

New Accuracy
By photographing the light flashes against the background of the stars, it will be possible to determine the satellite's position within an accuracy of 50 to 100 feet, at an altitude of 1,000 miles, NASA said.

The flashing satellite will make possible more accurate measurement of the size and shape of the earth, and will provide new information on orbital irregularities.

The report also told of plans for the first Tiros weather satellite, which will carry two television cameras to take pictures of the earth's cloud cover. A late version, Tiros II, will include infra-red radiation detectors to report radiation information.

Blind Girl to Receive Medal
Philadelphia —(AP)—Blind, 17-year-old Theresa Hayes will receive Philadelphia's first medal of honor for heroically remaining at her telephone switchboard to warn others during a fire at the Overbrook School for the Blind.

More than 300 pupils were evacuated safely but one fireman was killed in the blaze last week.

Announcement of the award was made yesterday by Rabbi David H. Wice, chairman of the inter-faith medal of honor committee.

"Her brave and courageous actions helped to prevent what could have been a major disaster," said Rabbi Wice.

Carrier Boys

Famous Alumnus

One of America's most respected men, J. Edgar Hoover of the F.B.I., once was asked what boyhood experience he considered of prime importance.

The nationally-recognized gang buster pointed to his early training as a newspaper carrier boy.

The profitable experience gained by Hoover is duplicated every day by the more than 450 Post-Crescent carriers.

In business for themselves, carrier boys buy their papers at a wholesale rate, deliver them, maintain their own book-keeping system, and handle their own financial affairs.

Tell City, Ind., —(AP)—Mighty explosions in the air and on the ground yesterday shattered a Northwest Airlines turboprop plane and killed all 63 persons aboard.

The FBI dispatched its disaster investigating team from Washington to see whether federal law had been violated in the crash through sabotage or otherwise.

Northwest airlines' 4-engine Lockheed Electra flight 710 left Minneapolis yesterday for Miami. A crew of six and 18 passengers boarded at Minneapolis. Thirty-nine more passengers got aboard at Chicago's Midway airport.

Castro Branded Betrayal of Cuba

Top Military Aide Quits; Asserts
Reds Behind Present Government

Washington —(AP)—Cuba's top military representative yesterday in an emotional speech during an inter-American defense meeting.

Pons called his speech a message to the people of Cuba and said they "should know once and for all that Fidelism is a mask behind which hides international communism."

He said the real brains behind the Havana dictatorship is Maj. Ernesto (Che) Guevara, leftist head of Cuba's national bank.

Cuban Embassy
The Cuban embassy promptly called Pons a deserter and said his charges were "traitorous allegations." It said he had been suspected of activities contrary to the revolution "as well as of collecting money surreptitiously."

Pons' resignation came just about the time Finance Minister Rulo Lopez Fresquet announced in Havana he was leaving Castro's cabinet. Many observers considered him the Castro regime's last remaining advocate of close Cuban-American cooperation.

Lopez Fresquet, 47, said he was resigning because of poor health. But it appeared his financial policies were just too moderate for Castro. His

Requests $65,000 to Decorate White House

Washington —(AP)—President Eisenhower, whose days in the White House are numbered, has asked for $65,000 to redecorate it for his successor.

About $25,000 would be used to paint the exterior, and $40,000 would be used for interior decoration according to the wishes of the new president and his first lady.

Budget Director Maurice H. Stans gave the White House request to a house appropriations subcommittee, which released the testimony yesterday.

'Nothing Definite' in Brutal Triple Slaying

Authorities Sifting Through Clues for Possible New Leads

Ottawa, Ill. —(AP)—Police sifting through three possible clues today in the search for leads to the brutal slaying of three socially prominent women.

But Supt. William Morris of the Illinois state police said, "We haven't got anything definite." He added police would question two or three men in connection with the fatal bludgeoning of the women in Starved Rock state park. He declined to identify them.

Morris said that several tufts of hair found in the hand of one of the victims, Mrs. Lillian Oetting, 50, were sent to the state police laboratory in Springfield for microscopic examination. Morris declined to say whether the hair might have been torn from the slayer's head in a death struggle.

Also sent to the police lab were shivers of bark removed from Mrs. Oetting's skull. Technicians were to compare the bits of bark with a gnarled 3-foot long tree limb found alongside the women's bodies at the closed end of picturesque St. Louis canyon. The tree limb was blood-smeared and authorities said most exciting experiences in the bludgeoning-slaying of the women.

bodies of Mrs. Oetting, whose husband, George, is an Illinois Bell Telephone company executive, Mrs. Frances Murphy, 47, wife of Robert Murphy, a vice president of Borg-Warner corporation, and Mrs. Mildred Lindquist, 50, wife of Robert Lindquist, a Harris Trust and Savings bank executive. Wednesday, Police established the women were slain early Monday afternoon.

75 to Tour With Charlie

All Seats on House European Trip Sold

"Sold out!" That's the surprising status that we could have booked of the European tour with a 75-person tour from both Post-Crescent Columnist Appleton and Green Bay.

Charlie House which is scheduled to take off for a 23-day holiday in July.

An announced passenger list of 75 persons from the Fox River valley was completed late Thursday, with travel bureaus in Appleton and Green Bay taking several more registrations on a "stand-by" basis.

"This has been one of my most exciting experiences in the travel business," summed up the attitude of Mary Ebbens, operator of the Mary Ebbens Travel bureau in Appleton.

Wide Interest
"I can't remember when there has been so much conversation and interest in a excursion several weeks ago, trip to anywhere," she said in a Post-Crescent-Press-Gazette sponsored contest.

Bill Peck, manager of People's Travel bureau in Green Bay, expressed amazement at the quick response to the "cheap maneuver" the proposed West Berlin visit. "Requests for information about the tour came from just about all over northeastern Wisconsin," he said. "I pressed the hope that the tour passenger list could be extended but tour officials declined against the move."

75 Persons Enough
"We believe that 75 persons on one tour is a large enough number," one said. "Our primary concern is that those people who have registered for the trip this summer have a wonderful time. We wouldn't want to do a single thing which might detract from their holiday pleasure."

The 75 persons registered in addition to House and Oconto Falls Teacher Victor Bast. Bast won the extended excursion several weeks ago, trip to anywhere," she said in a Post-Crescent-Press-Gazette sponsored contest.

Tourists from the Appleton area will start the trek from Outagamie County airport. Green Bay registrants will take off from Austin Straubel field. They will leave the Fox valley July 10.

U. S. Prelate Sentenced by Chinese Reds

Bishop James Walsh
Gets 20-Year Term,
Peiping Radio Says

Tokyo —(AP)—A Shanghai people's court sentenced American Roman Catholic Bishop James Edward Walsh of Cumberland, Md. to 20 years imprisonment, communist China's Peiping radio reported.

The broadcast heard here said Bishop Walsh had been under arrest since October 1958 on charges of "plotting to overthrow the new China."

Most recent word about the 68-year-old prelate was that he was under detention in a Shanghai hospital.

Last Official
Walsh is the last high non-Chinese Roman Catholic official in mainland China.

The bishop's sentence follows by one day the announcement of sentences ranging from five years to life for 14 Chinese Catholics in Shanghai. A Peiping radio report accused Bishop Walsh of leading them in a campaign to undermine the Chinese communist regime.

The life sentence went to Bishop Kung Pin-mei of Shanghai, who had been under arrest for several years. Peiping radio charged that Bishop Walsh instructed Bishop Kung and other Chinese Catholics in a counter-revolutionary plot "hiding under the guise of religion."

Four Others
Four other Americans are imprisoned in communist China on espionage charges. They are John T. Downey, New Britain, Conn.; Richard G. Fecteau, Lynn, Mass.; Robert E. McCann, Altadena, Calif.; and Hugh F. Redmond Jr., Yonkers, N. Y. Downey and Fecteau were U.S. army civilian employees captured during the Korean war. The other two were businessmen arrested in China. Their terms range from 15 years to life.

Set New Date for Civil Rights Vote

House, Senate Tied Up on Details of Proposal for Court-Appointed Referees

Washington — House leaders who once hoped to pass a civil rights bill this week talked today of next Wednesday as a new target date.

Senators who had indicated that body would pass next week the house bill they had expected to have by now made no effort to speed up consideration of their own bill on the subject.

Both houses were tied up on details of the administration's proposal for court-appointed referees to guarantee the voting rights of Negroes and other minority groups who say they can't vote because of racial discrimination.

Substitute Systems

Attempts were being made from both sides to substitute different systems and to change the details of the administration plan.

The senate started consideration of that section after voting criminal penalties for interstate transportation of any explosive intended for bombing public or private buildings.

It was adopted 86-1, with Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen voting "no" because he said the senate was straying far afield from civil rights.

Supporters Hurl Sharp Words In State Drive

Gov. Freeman of Minnesota Raps Remark by FDR, Jr.

By The Associated Press

Supporters of Sens. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts and Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota have begun to exchange sharp words in discussing the Wisconsin campaign of the two Democratic presidential hopefuls.

Minnesota's Gov. Orville Freeman, co-chairman of the Humphrey-For-President organization, charged at La Crosse Thursday that Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., had indulged in "nasty innuendo and mudslinging" in remarks he made about Humphrey's campaign in Wisconsin.

Freeman's charge came after Roosevelt commented in a filmed interview at La Crosse Wednesday that he had heard "ugly rumors" on where Humphrey's campaign money was coming from. He also said that Humphrey was spending more money in some Wisconsin areas than Kennedy. Roosevelt left the state Wednesday after spending two days campaigning for Kennedy.

4-Day Tour
Sen. Kennedy, meanwhile, continued to campaign in far northern Wisconsin. Humphrey was due in today to start a 4-day tour.

Freeman said there is "absolutely nothing" to the Roosevelt charge. He said the innuendo is an unfortunate one because workers, farmers and small businessmen of Minnesota are the people who are supporting Sen. Humphrey's campaign.

David Rabinovitz, Sheboygan, counsel of the United Auto Workers local at the struck Kohler company plant, a supporter of Kennedy, also spoke at the La Crosse labor meeting.

Rabinovitz said that Kennedy "is the only man who

Britain Labor Party Shaken In Election

Double Setback As Conservatives Sweep Two Seats

London — Britain's labor party, divided and demoralized by internal quarrels, was shaken some more today by a double election setback.

In the first two special elections since last October's national poll, conservative candidates for the house of commons trounced socialist opponents.

In the grimy Yorkshire industrial district of Brighouse, which labor held last year by a slim 47 votes, Michael Shaw was elected with a 666 majority. He was the first conservative ever chosen in the traditional labor stronghold.

His victory increased Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's already solid majority in the house of commons to 102.

Get Third Places
At West Harrow, a well-heeled London suburb and a safe conservative seat, labor was shunted to third place when the liberals intervened for the first time in 10 years.

Conservative Jack Page, a 40-year-old business executive, was sent to parliament with an 11,426 plurality, down more than 8,000 from the 1959 figure in the district but still impressive. Liberal candidate John Wallbridge got 7,100 votes, apparently from both laborites and conservatives.

laborite Philip Jenkins polled 6,030 and independent J. E. Dayton 1,560.

Both elections were caused by the death of men elected last year. The two results were seen as an expression of

One Thing in Common

Millionaire, Judge, Coeds Among Passengers on Ill-Fated Plane Trip

By The Associated Press

One thing they had in common — the millionaire, the judge, the giggling coeds and the son hurrying to his dying father — they all rode a doomed plane to disaster.

At 2:39 p.m. CST Thursday Northwest airlines flight 710 — Minneapolis to Miami — crowded with businessmen, vacationers and students — rolled down the runway of Chicago's Midway airport.

Less than an hour later the big multimillion-dollar turboprop exploded and crashed in bits in the rugged riverland hills near Tell City, Ind.

None of the 63 aboard survived.

In Miami, Andy Frain, Sr., head of the nationally known usher organization, broke the tragic news to those waiting in the airport for word of the overdue plane. Many broke down.

Had a Feeling
"I had a feeling all day something was going to happen," he told a newsmen.

Frain's wife, Lillian, 45, of Lincolnwood, Ill., died in the fiery crash, though a twist of fate might have saved her. Mrs. Frain, mother of six, died in the crash. Her husband, Richard, 21, Cheltenham, now in Paris with the show, was divorcee of a wine merchant and heiress. An avid sports fan, he was a former member of the De Paul university athletic board and former president of the defunct Chicago Stags professional basketball team.

The judge, well known in Republican circles, also had an outstanding mark while a prosecutor and was credited with helping crack the notorious Leopold-Loeb thrill story in 1924.

Hope Promotion of Exports Will Hike U. S. Sales Abroad

Government to Spend $10 Million Annually to Speed Up Program

Washington — The government hopes that by spending about $10 million to promote exports it can increase the foreign sales of American industry another $2 to $4 billion a year.

President Eisenhower announced the government-wide export promotion program Thursday, and asked the support of congress in providing a supplemental appropriation to get the program rolling in the year starting July 1.

Undersecretary of Commerce Philip A. Ray, head of the interagency task force which is organizing the drive, told reporters the initial request probably will be only about $5 million.

Increase Staffs
But when the campaign gains full momentum, he said, the cost may run $10 to $12 million a year, largely to increase the staffs of the commerce and agriculture departments and to more than double the number of commercial attaches of American embassies.

The current rate of export shipments, Ray said, is about $18 billion a year. This, if sustained, will be an increase of about $21 billion in 1960 over the total foreign sales for 1959. It is hoped, Ray said, that the promotion effort will provide an additional 10 to 20 per cent increase in annual sales, thereby adding roughly $2 to $4 billion a year to the nation's foreign trade volume.

Imports are expected to increase also, Ray said, but at a slower rate. The net result should be a significant decrease in the size of the deficit in international payments, which amounted to $3,700,000,000 last year.

At the same time the export-import bank of Washington announced a new program of providing government guarantees to cover the political risks incurred by American firms which sell abroad.

Foremost Dairies '59 Earnings Up; Over $10 Million

Foremost Dairies, Inc., parent company of Western Condensed, in 1959 earned $10,493,745, equal to $1.35 a share, up from $8,600,964, or $1.29 a share, in 1958, Paul E. Reinhold, chairman, and Grover D. Turnbow, president, announced.

The 1959 earnings included $623,716 of non-recurring profit from the sale of certain operating properties, they noted.

Sales last year rose to a new high of $440,090,281 from $416,447,923 in the prior year.

Capital expenditures last year totaled $13,575,000, the company said. In December, Foremost Dairies made its entry into the Phoenix, Ariz., area with the acquisition of Westward Ho Dairy, Inc.

In February, Foremost joined with International Basic Economy corporation and various dairy interests in Venezuela to form Industrias Lacteas de Perija. This company, based at Maracaibo, will build a processing plant for powdered milk and has taken over facilities already producing cheese and butter.

RHEUMATISM

There are many different kinds of Rheumatism according to the parts affected. Rheumatism affecting the nerves is called Neuritis, affecting the joints Arthritis, the muscles Myalgia, the Sciatic nerve Sciatica, the lumbar area of the back Lumbago, and so forth.

The cause of Rheumatism is pressure upon nerves weakening the nerve and the tissue they supply. These weakened tissues have an affinity for the acid in the blood stream which gives rise to the pain attending Rheumatism.

By removing the pressure upon the nerves by Chiropractic adjustments, health is restored.

Special Privilege for Congressmen

In 1953 the Post Office department ran into a buzz saw of public protest when it began handling a type of mail that soon became known as "junk" mail — that is, mail that carried no address but was simply dumped on the post office with instructions to deliver it to each home, rural mail box or post office box in a given area. This permitted direct mail business houses, advertising agencies, politicians and others to flood a city or district with literature through the mails without going to the expense of addressing each piece individually. It also filled mailboxes with a lot of unwanted material which gave rise to the appellation "junk."

The department canceled this order in 1955 and since then has insisted that each piece of mail carry a bona fide address even though it still may be addressed simply to the "occupant" at that address. An exception is made in the case of rural routes and boxholders at post offices where no delivery service is available.

Now comes the House of Representatives with a rider to a post office appropriation which would bring back "junk" mail — but for members of Congress only. Under this rider the legislators would be permitted to flood their districts with political propaganda without addressing each individual piece. The bill, with the rider, passed the House and is now before the Senate.

We can understand the temptation that presented itself to the congressmen when this rider was proposed. What sweeter privilege could a politician have than that of using the U. S. mails to contact all the voters in his district at minimum expense? We cannot imagine a piece of legislation that would have a greater appeal to the incumbent members of Congress — especially since the privilege would not be enjoyed by their opponents in the coming elections.

This is an unconscionable raid by Congress on the facilities of the Post Office department. The members of the House who voted for it should be ashamed of themselves. We hope the Senate has enough sense to strike the rider from the bill.

But Which Language?

After his return from his Latin American tour, President Eisenhower urged that our schools concentrate more on the teaching of Spanish and Portuguese, the languages of "our neighbors." He had noticed, he said, how many more people in the other lands spoke English fluently.

This newspaper has repeatedly backed the teaching of a foreign language in both elementary and secondary schools. It is heartening to note that many area schools are increasing their offerings in languages and many have taught another tongue in grade school for a number of years. The emphasis in this decade is upon conversation, which had impressed the President, and the younger the child the better he is able to learn to speak and understand another language.

However, there is one aspect of this emphasis that must be recognized when we compare our teachings with those of other countries. English now is the primary international language. W. Somerset Maugham recently said it undoubtedly would replace other "second" languages around the world in a few years. Thus, in most countries, English is the obvious choice for another tongue.

But in the United States it is not so easy to choose. Spanish and Portuguese are advantageous for business in Latin America. French, formerly a primary international language, is culturally important, locally traditional and of use in French Canada as well as in many Asiatic nations with French colonial backgrounds. Russian has been pushed in many areas as a means of lessening tensions. Anyone with a speaking knowledge of one of the difficult Oriental dialects would have an advantage in diplomatic work in that area. Arabic has been emphasized because of our growing business interests in the Middle East. German is important in science as well as conversationally. Our various national backgrounds would tend to enthuse us about Italian or Slavic or Scandinavian tongues.

Obviously most schools, even of moderate size, can offer only one or two languages and at this time the choice depends much upon the availability of a qualified teacher. To some extent the teaching now being expanded in the elementary schools will remain something of an experiment for some years. However, local schools which have conducted classes for a number of years have no intention of abandoning them.

A youngster who learns one foreign language not only has the obvious advantage of the use of that tongue; he should be convinced that he can learn another if necessary. The President's own interpreter, an expert in several languages, picked up another overnight when he was needed for a diplomatic job.

But whatever the choice in various schools, there always will be reasons why another one should be made. Unless we divide our schools into those of the arts and those of the sciences, it can't be done. And finances alone will prevent this.

Changing Dependence

In 1958, France gave most of her African colonies an opportunity for full independence. Little Guinea, on the west coast, accepted immediately although it was financially, if not politically, far from able. But under the leadership of President Sekou Toure, trained in French trade unions, the little country set up its own government. And now the balance between Red and free influence is hazardous.

France seemed determined to punish the country for accepting that which supposedly had been freely proffered. A loan, needed to build a power dam for the benefit of Guinea's aluminum industry, was no longer guaranteed by France. Frenchmen, as a group, packed up and moved and with them went many talents, training and abilities still undeveloped by the Guineans. But there was another godfather ready and able.

Three days after Guinea declared its independence, it was recognized by Russia, months before any western nation set the diplomatic wheels moving. The banana business, boycotted by France, was taken over by Russia. Czech planes fly regular schedules between Prague and Guinea. Russia has promised a four lane highway and an expansion of the airfield to accommodate jets — Russian jets. Red advisors are busy in public works and finance and Hungarian buses are on the streets. Retail goods, formerly at least 80 per cent from France, now are from Red nations. Guinea has recognized Red China and there are plans for the Chinese to come to show the Guineans how to grow rice.

President Toure probably is no Communist and he may become disillusioned by the variation between Red promises and Red deeds. But the lesson on Guinea to the West should be that we must be ready to accept independent nations as such but acknowledge that they are not always as financially independent as their politics require. It is unlikely that France convinced any remaining territories that they should remain in the French Community because of what has happened to Guinea.

Town Government Now Becoming Political Institution of Past

From The Bangor (Me.) Daily News

Everett W. Stephens, dean of students at Babson institute in Massachusetts and moderator in the town of Southboro, Mass., has written an interesting and timely article on "Town Meeting Apathy."

It is based on the results of a questionnaire made by an associate — results, we suspect, which also would be found in many if not most Maine towns if a similar inquiry were to be made.

Here are some of the findings produced by the Southboro study:

Of 457 of the town's 2,000 voters who responded to the quiz, only 158, or a little over one-third, attended a town meeting two years ago.

"Lack of interest" kept 21 per cent of the absentees from attending.

Another 11 per cent didn't even know the time of the town meeting.

A conflict of working hours accounted for the absence of 23 per cent.

Individual explanations for not attending included:

"Nothing ever comes of them . . . no idea of what they're about . . . a certain few have control over town affairs . . . seats too hard . . ."

Of those who did attend, many took no active part, saying: "Meetings are cut and dried . . . don't really know enough about town meeting."

The Southboro story reflects an unhappy state of affairs not alone in Southboro — which is typical of highgrade New England towns — but throughout New England. As a rule, there is minority attendance, and often it's a slim minority. The greater part of those who do go take a passive role. They have opinions, but do not initiate or join in discussions. They'll talk and complain freely enough to friends and neighbors before and after the meeting but don't raise a peep at town meeting, where their opinion could count.

The questionnaire focuses attention on one situation that bears correction — the conflict with working hours. Many town meetings are held in part or entirely in the daytime. Few working people can free themselves for day sessions. Holding the meeting at night, two nights if need be, would be the answer.

Town meeting "apathy" could be eliminated in a twinkling, if all citizens would realize that their attendance and opinion does count and that our democratic form of government is a responsibility as well as a privilege. There is time for citizens to brief themselves in advance on town meeting matters and plan to be participants. A revival of interest is urgent if New England's famed town meetings are not to deteriorate into ghost sessions.

Incidentally, the Southboro questionnaire was a project of social studies students of Southboro's schools. The disinterest of the adults in municipal affairs must have been disillusioning to the future voters.

Situation on Feed Additives, Pesticides Called Intolerable

From The Farm Journal

Farmers are as much interested in protecting the public health as anyone. But with respect to feed additives, pesticides and similar tools of modern agriculture, we have an intolerable situation.

We have a law that needs changing — the Delaney amendment, or "additive" to the food additives act. It specifies that no substance which has ever caused cancer, in so much as a laboratory mouse, can be added to feed. It doesn't matter that the substance requires massive doses over an extended time; it doesn't matter that as little as one part per million of the additive may show up in meat, milk or eggs, or that absolutely none shows up! Congress — not scientists — has said this is dangerous and can't be allowed. The trouble with the law is simple: It leaves no room for scientific judgment.

Never before has the food and drug administration been hamstrung this way. It has allowed tolerances of some 2,000 potent substances which are judged by scientists to be safe in negligible amounts. Why not continue to let scientists decide?

Actually it has been proved that salt, pepper, eggs or glucose solutions can produce cancer in experimental animals as readily as diethyl stilbestrol, which produced the recent poultry scare. Other estrogens, which act much like stilbestrol, occur naturally in alfalfa hay, corn and wheat. Are we to stop feeding them, too?

The result of the cancer scare is that food and drug is not approving any new feed additive. Manufacturers are now required to prove not only that their product hasn't yet produced cancer but that under no conceivable circumstances could it do so — obviously impossible of proof. Hence progress with new and better feed additives has almost ground to a stop. The pesticide world has been thrown into confusion.

We have an able, though understaffed, food and drug administration which is not completely running its own show. Decisions, if they have any publicity value, are being made by the secretary of health, education and welfare. In the more spectacular instances, the pronouncements come from him, too — by press conference.

FDA is responsible to a cabinet officer, who is a political appointee, part of a political administration. We can't say whether Arthur S. Flemming, secretary of HEW, is influenced by political motives or not. The point is he could be. And if he weren't, his successor might be. The secretary of HEW doesn't have many opportunities to make the front page. When something like cranberries or capons comes along, it's a temptation to call a press conference, toss the word "cancer" about, suddenly achieve headlines and emerge as the great defender of the people.

What can be done? Well, first, we need a change in the Delaney amendment. Second, we need a change in the administrative set-up. Third, farmers must absolutely follow labels — the responsibility is on them, too.

As to administration, we need to remove from the hands of any one man, particularly when he is a political office holder, (1) the power to panic American consumers with a mere ill-advised statement and (2) the power to lay low with one blow an entire segment of agriculture.

How can we do it? We might make FDA an independent agency like the federal trade commission. We might equip FDA with better advisory bodies than it already has — let these bodies assay the danger, make recommendations, and take over the function of announcing such news to the public. We might bring in the U. S. public health service. Agriculture ought to have a voice somewhere — at least it should be heard.

Looking Backward

Dixon Chief Justice Candidate

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for the week of March 17, 1860.

In compliance with the express request of over 7,000 electors of this State, the Hon. Luther S. Dixon consents to be a candidate for Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Wisconsin.

Almost every member of the Dane County Bar (where he was best known as a jurist) joined in a separate expression of confidence in his ability, integrity and eminent fitness for the position.

Of the candidates before the people, no man who loves the Union of the States and the supremacy of the Law can resituate one moment in his duty. Judge Dixon, in all that constitutes a sound jurist and conservative man, is immeasurably superior to Judge Sloan or Judge Smith. While the latter is a Nullifier, no man yet defines by authority Judge Sloan's position upon the question of the day (the slavery issue).

The Republican party first introduced partisan views as a test of a man's fitness for the Bench. They first defined Nullification as essential to the obtainance of their support. Now will they let the People know the position of their nominee thereupon?

25 YEARS AGO Friday, March 15, 1935

Gov. Philip E. LaFollette signed the $5,000,000 state unemployment relief bill but struck from the measure by a partial veto all of the extensive administrative changes written into it by the senate.

The legislature was thrown into a deadlock on the new mortgage moratorium bill when the assembly non-concurred, 65 to 23, in a senate amendment which would have stricken out a provision for jury trial and compulsory mediation in favor of re-enacting much of the Donley law.

Jan DeBaufer, Polly Smiley, Lola Mae Zuelke and Ruth Chapelle, Appleton, and Laura Thickens, Menasha, were among the Lawrence college women initiated into Kappa Alpha Theta sorority that week.

Kenneth Sager was elected senior class honor member of Der Deutsche Verein, Appleton High school German club. He was president of the club, treasurer of the senior class and a member of the student council.

Carroll McEathron was elected president of the Twin City Life Underwriters association which met Thursday evening.

Thoughts About the Milwaukee Election

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Madison — The Milwaukee mayoralty primary election produced the results generally expected among the informed observers — with one significant exception.

The showing of the so-called Republican candidate was lower than anyone had anticipated, and so pathetically low as to underwrite the sad state of the new Wisconsin minority party in the state's principal population center.

George Bowman had a respectable rank as an assistant city attorney, under the merit system. His family is widely known in public affairs in the city. He was consistently labeled as the "Republican" contender in the nonpartisan primary against two major "Democratic" rivals. The fact that he failed to be nominated is not as meaningful as the fact that he trailed badly. To those Republicans who are wondering about the state of their party for the fall campaign struggles in the state, this is an unfavorable omen, indeed.

MAJOR FIGHT

Normally the Milwaukee city elections are dismissed by the state at large for the local affairs they are. But the current battle has some out-state importance.

The two nominees, Henry Maier and Henry Reuss, are widely-known figures in the ruling Wisconsin Democratic party, one as the chief spokesman for his party in the legislature, the other as a successful and openly ambitious member of the house of representatives.

Rep. Reuss had a comfortable lead over Sen. Maier in the primary, which encourages the orthodox view that he will probably win the office held by a succession of Socialists in this century.

The orthodox view is further supported by the guess that the moderate and conservative votes attracted by Bowman in the primary will be more inclined to support

Maybe we need a new broad-based commission. Certainly we need something better than we've got. The present situation cannot be allowed to go on.

Reuss, under the circumstances, than Maier, if only because Reuss has had some non-Democratic and nonradical associations in the past and had the advantage of long identity with influential family and business circles.

All of this wouldn't matter much to the resident in towns out in the state, except that the man who wins the mayor's chair will inevitably be heard from in future state politics if the Democrats continue to prosper.

Both Maier and Reuss wanted the mayoralty early in their careers, and it was denied them. Both in the intervening years have shown a keen appetite for high state-wide office. Maier ran for U. S. senator, quite unimpressively, as recently as 1956. Reuss came within an ace of running in the 1957 special election, was only dissuaded when Proxmire convinced him that there would be a tough primary fight.

It also may be noted that both men have protected their lines of retreat in their present fight. Reuss sits in Congress and will run for reelection in a reasonably safe district if he loses the city election. Maier retains his state senate place, and very likely will try for Reuss' congressional seat if he loses the mayoralty to Reuss and the congressman quits Washington.

GOP WORRY

To revert to the Republican angle in the Milwaukee primary balloting, the GOP in recent years has been quite unsuccessful in recruiting such essential candidates as for sheriff and county clerk and the others in the fall elections for county office.

The discouraging showing of the Republican candidate this spring, even if his GOP connections were only nominal, represents considerable psychological advantage to the state Democratic machine and a blow to the morale of the Republicans preparing for the fall bouts.

Progress in Salt Water Conversion

From The Memphis Commercial Appeal

A Dallas newspaper reports that a conversion plant at Freeport on the Gulf coast can now turn salt water into fresh at a cost of about $1 per thousand gallons. Only a few years ago, the report goes on to say, the cost was $4. The newspaper suggests that it may turn out to be the biggest story of the year, as far as Texas is concerned, and we should think the suggestion justified.

The cost of $1 per thousand gallons announced from Freeport does not, of course, include any costs for distribution and selling, but such a figure represents tremendously interesting progress. It indicates the distinct possibility of a day within the reasonably near future when the droughts that have so often plagued the southwest at unpredictable intervals will be a thing of the past.

Men are working on the conversion of both salt and brackish water in this country and elsewhere and it is not fantastic to expect a day when water will be available for vast areas of the earth's surface that are now all but worthless. Such a development would solve many food and population problems. Stranger things have come to pass.

Common Sense and Conferences Must Settle Issue

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington — Gov. Leroy Collins of Florida is known as one of the "moderates," as contrasted with the "extremists," with respect to racial strife in the south, so what he has just said in criticism of the "sit-in" demonstrations is indicative of the deep feeling that is being engendered by these episodes. He said Tuesday: "Today we see white Americans and colored Americans facing each other with glowing hate, willing to set whole communities aflame, all over whether they are to be permitted to sit at the same counters in 10-cent stores."

"Racial discord in America is following a communist script, whether or not it is written from the Kremlin." The Florida governor declared that the "filibuster in our great national congress is being projected before the world as a bitter controversy between Americans over whether Negro citizens are free to vote in our free elections." The truth is, large numbers of Negroes do vote in southern states. The question of their qualifications hitherto has been a state problem.

"Bi-Racial Conferences" "I think," said the governor, "if the men in the Kremlin were writing a prescription for destroying American influence, they would include discrediting American freedom and democracy by presenting us to the world as a nation torn by internal dissensions — incapable of dealing justly with one another in a spirit of mutual respect and brotherhood."

President Eisenhower suggested at his press conference Wednesday that there be "bi-racial conferences in every city and every community of the south," which, he said, would be much better than "trying to get up here and direct every single thing from Washington."

The president was asked if he believed that Negroes have "guaranteed rights to eat with whites at lunch counters," he replied: "... My own understanding is that, when an establishment belongs to the public, opened under public charter, and so on, equal rights are involved, but I am not sure that this is the case whatsoever. I was talking about demonstrations of marching in the streets or any other kind of peaceful assembly."

"Bitter Feelings" Constitutional lawyers would add that the people of Little Rock also had a right to assemble in the vicinity of Central High school in 1957, but mere fear of mob violence caused the federal government to send in troops to disperse any assembly, peaceful or otherwise.

Today Negro leaders are provoking bitter feeling in the south by "sit-in" demonstrations which, in themselves, are unlawful and a violation need for "bi-racial conferences" of the rights of private owners, such as President Eisenhower has suggested — and that planned the demonstrations must have known:

Mrs. David C. Salmons and her five children survey the ruins of their suburban Richmond, Va., home, destroyed by fire Wednesday night. Mrs. Salmons' husband was at work and the neighbors helped her and the children to safety. "It burned everything we had," Mrs. Salmons said. The children left to right are Violet, 2, held by her mother; Thomas, 7; Gordon, 10; Deborah, 3½ and Larry, 13.

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1 abandoned its basic opposition to the western demand that a control system be worked out before the major powers agree to disarm.

Leading Editorial In a leading editorial and a dispatch from its correspondent at the Geneva conference, the Soviet communist party newspaper insisted on approval of Khrushchev's plan for "total and general disarmament."

Moch told the conference controls are necessary because no disarmament agreement could rule out the possibility of secret violations. He listed three essentials that sooner or later the participants would be ejected and, if disorderly, would be arrested and punished. Was this a plan to provoke resentment, to publicize the disorders, and to give the communists material for their propaganda broadcasts?

Gov. Ernest F. Hollings, of South Carolina, in discussing the "sit-in" demonstrations, said that the Negroes "think they can violate any law, especially if they have a Bible in their hands." He spoke of the manifestations as being "explosive by their very nature" and said that, while the protest movement was originated by students, it now has been taken over by "outside groups."

Business Rights The states and cities in the south have a constitutional right, of course, to arrest and punish any persons engaged in a conspiracy to invade the ten-cent store restaurants or any other private business establishments. The same stores have a right to bring damage suits in the courts against any individuals who start such demonstrations for the purpose of discrediting the name and business reputation of the owners of the stores. These are "civil rights," too.

The instigators of the current commotion in the south call the agitation "passive resistance." Against whom are the provocative demonstrations in the ten-cent stores in the south directed? The federal government has no right to order the stores to open their lunch counters to anyone to whom they choose to deny such privileges. These are private establishments, and, unlike railway stations, can conform to local custom.

Do the Negro leaders really believe they are advancing the cause of "law and order" by these provocative demonstrations? There certainly is an unlawful and a violation need for "bi-racial conferences" of the rights of private owners, such as President Eisenhower has suggested — and that planned the demonstrations must have known:

Poll Shows Signs
Of Crossover
Vote, Laird Says

Post-Crescent Washington Bureau Washington — If a recently completed presidential poll of the Seventh Wisconsin congressional district is any kind of forecast of things to come, Richard M. Nixon will win in a walk.

The poll, conducted by the district's representative in congress, Melvin R. Laird, shows that 64.7 per cent of the 14,875 persons who replied said they would vote for Nixon if the "presidential election were held today."

Some of these same persons, however, wrote Laird that they might not vote the same way in the preferential primary next month as they expected to in November. This might indicate, Laird said, that some Nixon supporters would "cross over" and vote in the Democratic primary, where there is a contest between Sens. John Kennedy and Hubert Humphrey.

Kennedy Over Humphrey In that department, Kennedy came out ahead, more than two to 1, topping Humphrey's 61 per cent preference with 15.3 per cent. Trailing among the Democratic possibilities were Adlai Stevenson with 5.6 per cent, Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas, 2.3 per cent and Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri, 2 per cent.

Nelson Rockefeller, incidentally, has a few supporters in the Seventh district, for he polled 4.2 per cent of the vote for president, as the only Republican mentioned by the voters beside Nixon. Laird said that up to March 10, 15,633 questionnaires were tabulated, with 14,875 persons answering the presidential questions.

Estimate Damage at Over $2½ Million in Los Angeles Dock Fire San Pedro, Calif. — Fire gobbled up a huge section of dock at Los Angeles harbor last night, causing damage estimated at $2½ million. The blaze, fueled by fresh lumber and waterfront pilings, chewed up 2,000 feet of water front dock and burned uncounted thousands of board feet of lumber on a nearby barge.

Harbor officials believe sparks from a welder's torch fell on shavings and set off the blaze, which took six hours to contain.

"Pieces of bodies were scattered around everywhere," said Farmer Frank Whitehead, "but there wasn't enough to them to tell how many."

No Trouble Sgt. Joe O'Brien of the Indiana state police said the plane was last heard from over Scotland, Ind., about 60 air miles from the crash scene. He said the pilot reported no trouble. The plane went down at approximately 4:20 p.m.

The federal aviation agency refused to disclose anything about the last radio contacts with the plane. Witnesses first heard aerial explosions — to one the sound was like 16-inch artillery shells, to another like the noise of a shotgun — and then saw a wing break through the clouds, followed by the main body of the plane.

In the early excitement and horror, observers thought the wing was the body of a jet plane and that there had been an aerial collision. Some residents snatched up pieces of wreckage for souvenirs before police blocked off the area.

The terrain — about halfway between Louisville, Ky., and Evansville, Ind. — is rugged. The hills are steep, like midjet mountains, and heavily wooded.

Portable Power State police were ordered to help search a wide area for bodies. They had to bring in portable power and communication units. Light became the biggest problem as dark settled over the hills. A detachment of 50 Indiana National Guard troops was alerted to aid the troopers. Some bodies were believed buried by the impact in the snowy, muddy ground. "We'll have to use earth-digging machinery to get out some of the bodies," a coroner's official said. About an hour and a half after news of the crash came out, a person who sounded

Income Tax Items

New York — Rep. Adam Clayton Powell's woman secretary testified at his federal court trial Thursday that he directed her to transfer some apparently nondeductible income tax items to deductible listings in his financial records.

The testimony was given by Mrs. Battle Freeman Dodson. She was the Negro Democratic congressman's congressional secretary from 1945 until her conviction on income tax evasion charges in May 1956. She served four months in jail.

Wife in Paris Powell is accused of evading payment of $3,063 in taxes — on a return he filed for his wife, pianist Hazel Scott in 1951 and on a joint return he filed in 1952. Miss Scott, who is estranged from Powell and living in Paris, is not a defendant in the case.

Mrs. Dodson testified at length concerning documents she said she used in helping Powell prepare returns for himself and his wife. She said Powell ordered her to list some of his personal expenses as tax-deductible business costs. She followed his instructions, she testified, to change her worksheet.

One of the instructions, Mrs. Dodson testified, was to list a $5,400 deduction as expenses incurred "on an official U. S. congressional visit to Europe and the Near East."

Powell, the government contends, was not on official business at that time but was accompanying his wife on a concert tour.

Youths, Man
Gave Drugs
To Students

White Plains, N.Y. — (AP) — Three youths, one a college junior, and a man have been arrested and accused of supplying narcotics to more than 100 high school and college students in Westchester county.

Westchester county Dist. Atty. Joseph F. Gagliardi announced the arrests Thursday. For the last six months, Gagliardi said, both boys and girls have been using narcotics as a prelude to church socials and country club affairs.

He added that the students, from all social and economic levels, gathered in private homes to smoke marijuana cigarettes and to use cocaine, heroin and opium derivatives in pills, by inhalation, and by hypodermic injection. The district attorney said the parents of the students would be summoned, in groups of 10, to start appearing next week at a "narcotics school" and be taught how to detect if their children are using narcotics.

FHA Revises Rule on Home Mortgages

Builder Can Obtain Maximum Coverage on Used Unit From an Owner Planning to Buy House

Washington — The Federal Housing administration put into effect a new set of mortgage insurance rules designed to make it easier for a home owner to trade in his old house on a new model.

The new rules allow a builder or a real estate broker to obtain a maximum F. H. A. insured mortgage on a used house bought from a home-owner planning to buy a new house. This mortgage can be transferred by the builder or broker to a second buyer who plans to live in the used house.

Under the old rules, maximum F. H. A. mortgage insurance on easy terms was available only to home buyers who intended to live in the house. This sometimes made buyers, such as real estate brokers, reluctant to act as a middleman on a trade-in deal.

Stimulate Market
F. H. A. Commissioner Julian Zimmerman said the new policy should help stimulate the market for new homes, by making it easier for buyers to dispose of their old homes. "More times than not," Zimmerman said, "when you have a new house being sold, you also have an old house being sold. Anything that can be responsibly done to stimulate the turnover of existing houses should help the whole housing industry."

But Zimmerman was reluctant to predict the new F. H. A. trade-in program would mean a big increase in new housing starts this year. He stuck to earlier predictions that starts would "exceed" 1.2 million units, compared with just over 1.3 million in 1959.

Typical Transaction

A typical 3-way transaction under the new rules would work this way: A home owner agrees to sell his old house for, say, $21,500 to a real estate broker. The home owner plans to use the proceeds to help pay for a new house to be bought from the broker. To finance the original purchase, the broker can apply for a maximum mortgage of $19,000 insured by F. H. A. The broker must put up a down payment, plus $3,080, or 15% of the total mortgage to be held in reserve by the mortgage lender.

If the broker re-sells the old house within 18 months to a second buyer, he gets his $3,080 back and transfers the existing mortgage to the new buyer. Because no new mortgage must be written, the new buyer may save some money on service charges, a saving that F. H. A. hopes will appeal to people shopping for used houses. If the broker can't find a buyer for the used house within 18 months, the mortgage lender applies the $3,080 held in reserve against the unpaid balance of the mortgage. The broker, of course, must continue paying interest and principal on the mortgage until he finally sells the house. (From the Wall Street Journal).

WSES Manager To Attend 3-Day Talks

Fred R. Gehrke, manager of the Appleton district Wisconsin State Employment Service office, will attend a 3-day training session and administrative conference at Fond du Lac Tuesday.

The theme of the conference — manpower: challenge of the 1960s — is taken from a study recently released by the federal department of labor which shows the changes in the nation's labor force and population expected to take place between 1960 and 1970. The WSES officials will use the national study to gear the agency's activities to meeting future manpower requirements in Wisconsin.

Other topics on the program include manpower responsibilities in civil defense, migratory workers, the WSES professional placement service, public relations and out-service training for employment counselors. Panel discussions on Wednesday will consider operational and management problems.

Put Leisure Areas First on Fix-Up List

Today's Family Needs Place to Relax and Play

The big need in today's home is for more play and recreation space.

That is why we have family rooms, why more rooms are doing double duty as play and living areas — and why houses with attics, basements, breezeways and porches are in such demand.

Families are converting, enclosing, adding on and spreading out in all directions in an effort to make every bit of space count.

Basements are being partitioned into utility rooms, workshop areas and just play areas. One of the cardinal rules here is not to engage in any drastic remodeling until you know for sure that your foundation walls and concrete floor are reasonably waterproof.

Good Rule

Another good rule to follow in basement or other type remodeling is to use decorative as well as maintenance-free materials wherever possible.

For a "wreck-proof" recreation room you can use a rugged tile floor. Real tile is tops for durability.

Decorative tiles in glazed or unglazed form are recommended for fireplaces. Modern or colonial designs are available in a wide range of fade-proof tile colors.

Tile dealers and contractors usually carry a comprehensive line of decorative tiles,

Here's how the packing experts recommend you handle packing plates or "platters." Spread a 12-inch layer of shredded paper along the bot-

Five Facts to Ponder Before You Remodel

Homeowner Must Consider Where and When to Expand; Cost Plus Material

If you are a homeowner with growing pains, you generally have one of two choices:

Move to a bigger house or expand your present home.

The first alternative poses a question—Can you afford to move?

The other choice, remodeling to fit the needs of a growing family, can be a bit tricky since there are other factors involved besides money, reincluding many designs with that distinctive hand-painted look. A border of these around the face of your fireplace may be just the thing to brighten up the family game room.

ports Sheldon Cady, home improvement specialist.

He offers five thoughts to consider before a homeowner plunges into springtime remodeling:

Where to Expand

Where to expand? The least expensive expansion generally can be in an unfinished attic or basement. Next best is the garage or breezeway or carport, either of which is usually already partly enclosed.

What's the primary reason for expansion? Generally, the need today is for an extra bedroom followed by a playroom or den. An enclosed porch or a place for a workshop are other popular home expansion projects.

What will it cost? This depends upon the type of extra room and its location as well as materials needed. For exterior remodeling, consider insulated aluminum siding, that cuts future maintenance and heating costs and can be used over any type of surface — wood, stucco, shingle or concrete block. Wallboard can be used for a variety of interior jobs.

Cost Estimate

Who will do the job correctly? A reputable remodeling contractor will give a cost estimate and it is best to get at least three estimates. Be certain the payment terms are exact and that any contract specifies exactly what is to be done and what quality materials will be used.

How to finance it? There are several ways. One of the recommended ways is an "open-end" mortgage whereby the homeowner can borrow money he has already paid on the mortgage at the same interest rate. This is generally merely an extension of the regular mortgage.

"Any improvement," says Cady, "is an investment in the home's value, and a man's home is usually his greatest single investment."

Cover Shelves With Bright, Plastic Lining

Housewives Will Save Work by Planning Ahead

Bending over, again and again, to clean the kitchen under-the-sink and counter shelves is excellent exercise if you have a weight problem. But it isn't kitchen efficiency.

Neither is kneeling on the kitchen floor for back-straining minutes to scrub out hard-to-reach corners on the bottom shelf.

They're just added aches in the homemaker's dawn-to-dusk workday. But they can be done the easy way with a little scientific planning of your kitchen redecorating program this spring.

After you've washed off those bottom and recessed shelves, cover them with one of the new, decorative linings being introduced this spring.

Choose Coverings

Choose coverings that are plastic-coated and rubberized for this purpose. They won't absorb spills and are stain-resistant, so that you can wipe them clean with a few swipes of a soapy cloth or paper towel. Linings such as these are scrubable and color fast, won't shrink or stretch, crack or peel, so your maintenance problems are substantially reduced.

These covering materials are designed especially for those deep shelves, in a wide variety of workable colors and compatible patterns. Especially practical are linings in 18-inch widths, six inches more than the standard shelf width, and with an adhesive backing. They're now obtainable in 12 pastel colors, soft white and a selection of 19 attractive prints.

Another welcome advantage of the adhesive-backed coverings is that they won't

Claim Discovery of Secret Of Famed Violin Makers

Moscow — Soviet musicians Amati and others of the sic scholars claim a Latvian Cremona school. Zviadris has a rare collection of stringed instruments, Tass said. His favorite, a violin of his own making, bears the autographs of Fritz Kreisler, David Oistrakh, Yehudi Menuhin and other famed violinists.

A Tass dispatch from Riga said the discovery was made by Alexander Zviadris, a seascape painter by profession and violin maker by hobby.

The news agency said Zviadris, 55, has in the past 34 years made about 100 violins of "remarkable sonority and a fine timbre."

"His amber finish," Tass said, "is highly resilient and has no by-effects on the acoustics of the instruments. It is also resistant to scratching."

The varnish used by Stradivarius and other master violin makers of Cremona is believed to hold much of the secret of their magnificent violins, whose tone has never been equaled.

The varnish, soft in texture and shading from orange to red has never been duplicated.

Most of the great violinists of today use instruments fashioned by Stradivarius, Niskid or wrinkle even when you slide a heavy utensil out from the back of the shelf. Applying this type of covering is simple, too. Merely cut the material to exact size and peel off the protective paper from the backing as you fit it into place.

Maintenance Vital To Health of Home

300,000 Families Will Spend $8 Billion on Improvements in '60

Preventive maintenance is needed for the health of a home as much as preventive medicine is needed for the health of the homeowner.

Approximately 500,000 U.S. homes fall to such disrepair each year that they are beyond repair, reports building specialist Clarence Hausmann.

He estimates that 300,000 families will spend about $8 billion on home improvements this year, and much of it will be devoted to roofing repairs.

"A damaged roof can lead to many other ailments," maintains Hausmann, "for rain will generally seep into a house with a less-than-adequate roof. Rain stains can ruin interior decorations, do serious damage to walls and floors and even weaken or hasten decay of structural woodwork."

Do Job Now
"The spring is the time when most homeowners should start thinking about roof repairs and getting the job done before it can lead to other things," he says.

"Preventive maintenance can combat many small jobs — before they become big jobs," he adds.

"To the homeowner who is considering roofing replacement or repair this spring, Hausmann advises:

Consider heavyweight shingles. Standard weight shingles (210 pounds per 100 square feet) meet most local building requirements but heavier-weight shingles with extra layers of asphalt and heavy mineral granules provide years of additional protection at little extra cost. Labor charges, which account for a major part of the expense of roofing, are usually the same for heavyweight or lightweight shingles.

A new roof over an old one. This may reduce the cost and

Ban Exportation Of Helicopters To Castro Regime

Washington — The commerce department announced it has revoked licenses to export helicopters to Cuba.

The announcement confirmed a report published by the Houston Post. The newspaper said the action appeared to be the start of a general crackdown on sale and shipment of military goods to Cuba.

U. S. officials said only that it is customary to review outstanding licenses and new applications for export of equipment which might be used for military purposes. This is particularly true, they added, in areas of the world where tensions exist.

Details of the export licenses canceled were not made public but it was understood four helicopters, ranging in price from $40,000 to $68,000 were involved. They had been sold by two companies, but company names were not made public either.

Interest on U. S. Notes Declines

BY SYLVIA PORTER

In October, 1959, the U. S. Treasury sold a couple of billion dollars of new notes carrying a "magic" 5 per cent coupon — the highest rate placed on a U. S. obligation in over a generation. To investors who own these securities, the treasury will pay 5 per cent interest every year between now and the notes' due date in 1964.

In February of this year the U. S. Treasury sold another couple of billion dollars of new notes. On these obligations, also to come due in 1964, the Treasury placed a coupon of 4 1/2 per cent.

If the treasury were to issue similar notes today, it could sell them with an interest coupon of 4 1/2 per cent.

Dramatic Decline
This illustrates the dramatic extent to which interest rates — as measured by what the giant U. S. Treasury pays to borrow — have declined just in the past few months.

This underlines the extraordinary extent to which investors really have been buying U. S. bonds and thereby permitting the treasury to borrow at progressive lower interest rates.

The whole picture in the bond markets of this country has been drastically altered since the start of the year. Behind the change are five basic forces:

5 Per Cent Unusual

1. A first reason for the reversal lies in the very degree to which interest rates had soared at the end of 1959. So unusual was the 5 per cent coupon on a U. S. government note that announcement of the sale made worldwide headlines and investors who never before had even considered buying a U. S. security entered orders for them. Since last October, individuals have become buyers of high-coupon U. S. marketable obligations on a scale unknown since the '20s.

2. A second reason has been the dwindling of inflation fears and thus the willingness of investors to buy bonds in quantity again.

More Inflation Than Interest
In most of the post-World War II period buyers of U. S. bonds have taken a licking because while they've received $1-plus-interest back for every $1 invested, the interest hasn't been enough to offset the rising cost of living and taxes.

Now the fear of runaway inflation has subsided and properly so. The higher interest coupons being paid will cover any foreseeable annual price rise and tax bite.

3. A third factor has been the disenchantment of large numbers of investors with high-priced stocks.

Investment Shift
From the beginning, the decline in stock prices has been furthered by shifting of funds from stocks to bonds — particularly by institutional investors. The shifts have been pushing down interest rates and new borrowers have benefited.

4. A fourth factor has been the downgrading of exuberant forecasts for business and for the need for credit this year. In a more moderate economic advance there won't be such fierce demands for loans, and therefore not such intense pressures on borrowing costs. So far, at least, the demand for credit hasn't been sufficient to send interest rates to new peaks.

Balanced Budget

5. The fifth factor has been the realization that as the federal budget is balanced, the treasury won't have to tap the market constantly with new loans. There'll hardly be a scarcity of U. S. Treasury issues — but there won't be an evergrowing supply either.

It's improbable that the treasury will soon again have to pay 5 per cent to borrow money. You can still buy those "Magic Fives" whenever you wish, of course, but today, you'll have to pay $1.035 for each $1,000 of them.

Now if you buy U. S. government securities, expect a satisfactory, comfortably "fat" but not sensational income. Uncle Sam has stopped playing Santa Claus in the market.

Canada Sets Plans to Save Government in Atom Attack

Ottawa — A train stands in readiness here to evacuate the Canadian government in event of a nuclear attack.

The destination of this train is secret but informants say that in an emergency it would deposit the prime minister, his cabinet and other key officials at hideouts away from the capital in 90 minutes. The Canadian Press says it is understood that the cabinet and such senior officials as the armed forces chiefs of staff and deputy ministers would not operate from a single shelter but from several points scattered between the capital and Camp Petawawa, Ont., about 100 miles northwest of here.

More Communication
The army is responsible for warning the public of attack, assessing the area and intensity of fallout, and rescue where possible. West of Ottawa it now is adding to the communications facilities that would be required to try to run the country during and after attack.

1890 Book Lists Concoctions To Cure Cancer, Kill Bedbugs

BY CHARLES HOUSE Post-Crescent Staff Writer

A rash friend has loaned me a book of "600 Receipts Worth Their Weight in Gold" but he does not guarantee that the recipes it contains will be effective, and neither do I.

The author of the book, printed in 1890, is an all-wise non-medic whose bravery and confidence is startling and admirable. He has indicated that his recipes can cure cancer and the common cold, take grease spots from wool, kill bedbugs, make gas beer, purge a horse and provide remedies for such elegant disease as "poll-evil, ringbone, sifast, sand-crack, lameness, laxity, mallenders, strangles, thrush, hives, fullness of the blood and the destruction of foul smell."

I have perused the entire book and have developed a case of horrors at his home-made preparations which may have killed many a man who tried them.

Cucumber Catsup

Only one recipe seems worth the trying and that is something to eat and bears the wondrous name "Cucumber Catsup."

"Take," wrote the author, "three dozen full-grown cucumbers and eight white onions. Peel both and chop them as fine as possible. Sprinkle over the mixture three-quarters of a pint of salt and then place the mixture into a sieve and let it drain for 12 hours."

"Then take a teacup full of mustard seed, one-half teacup of black pepper and mix well with the cucumbers and onions. Put the whole into a stone jar of strong vinegar and close it tightly for three days."

He adds that it will keep for years. It may be because nobody will eat it, but one has to admit the concoction sounds good.

Sunstroke Cure

Such time-tested remedies as blowing cigar smoke into one's ear to cure earache are not above the author's range of talents, but he also has a dandy way, he says, of curing sunstroke.

To do this, he says, one must quickly bruise a horse radish and lay it on the stomach of the stricken one "and then give him gin to drink." Of this recipe, the author, John Marquart of Lebanon, Pa., adds modestly, "Never-failing."

He can cure lockjaw, too, (we call it tetanus now), he says, by a wondrous method: Just pound some beets into a pulp and apply them to powder, brimstone, alum and charcoal. The dose, he said, is this: "For a strong constitution, take as much of the mixture as will lie on a ten cent piece and take it with a teaspoon of strong vinegar."

Wart Removal

No thank you, Mr. Marquart, you devil you!

His method of removing a wart has been attempted by thousands of hopefuls over the years, but—as in everything else contained in his book—I don't believe it. But to remove a wart, says he, take two or three horse-hairs and turn them around the wart, tightening gradually until the wart falls away.

At any rate, gentle reader is urged not to try any of the cures and remedies or preventatives created by Mr. Marquart.

I cannot afford to lose a single reader.

Triangle School Problems Aired

Residents Fear Annexation, High Taxes Will Follow Attachment

"We've got a problem no matter what we do," said residents of the Triangle school district Thursday night in discussing the Outagamie and Calumet County school committees' proposal that the district be attached to Appleton for school purposes.

Thirty-eight students attend the 1-room Triangle school, at the junction of highways 10 and 76 west of Appleton. This is too many for one room and one teacher, said Donald Pennings, district clerk.

But the district would be foolish to add to the school now, Pennings said, because it undoubtedly will have to go in to the Appleton school system anyway.

The proposal for Triangle attachment came March 8 at a hearing on a petition that the Badger district, just south of Triangle, be attached. Appleton City Atty. Don L. Jury asked that the two districts be considered together.

Total Annexation

State law provides that 60 days after a district is attached to a city school district, the city may move for total annexation of part or all of the district. To serve the Badger area with a sewer system, an interceptor must be built north from Mud creek. City policy is not to furnish selected services to an area without totally annexing it and it wanted Triangle and Badger considered as a unit.

Outagamie county school Committeeman Harold Douglas, Appleton, who on March 8 moved for the Triangle hearing, was the target of criticism at Thursday night's meeting. The school attachment question should be settled before complicating it with talk of total annexation, said Lester Wilhams, Triangle school board member.

What it boils down to, Wilhams said, is that "the city is out looking for all our nice property" for tax purposes.

Because of the growing school enrollment, taxes are expected to go up whether or not the district is attached.

Triangle residents now pay $4.10 school tax per $1,000 assessed valuation, as compared with more than $20 in the Badger district. (These figures do not include about $6 per $1,000 paid to the town for high school students' tuition and transportation.)

Next year, if the district is not attached to Appleton, it will have to send some of its students to Appleton schools on a tuition basis or hire an additional teacher and rent an empty room in the Badger school.

If the district is attached, it will pay the $6 tuition and transportation tax the first year, plus the Appleton school tax of about $22. In following years, it would pay the Appleton school rate.

If it is annexed for all purposes, it will pay city tax rates. If that happens, "we might as well sell out and get out," said Anthony Schwablander. "The farm wouldn't bring enough to pay taxes."

Kenneth Spaay, a member of the Badger district's pro-attachment citizens' committee, said "you probably can defeat annexation" by a referendum vote.

One woman charged "the citizens' committee is working for the city, not for us."

An attached district turns over both its assets and liabilities to the city school system. Triangle has $2,000 in bonds and no debts, Pennings said.

"We don't want to be Santa Claus to the city right away, do we?" asked Schwablander.

Districts to the northwest

of Triangle have been attached to the Hortonville union high school district. Several people at the Thursday night meeting asked if the same could happen to Triangle. "We'd have no business going in to Hortonville," Pennings said.

Attachment to Hortonville would mean paying a $17 high school tax rate, which after the first year would replace the tuition tax Triangle residents now pay. High school students would have to ride farther to Hortonville than they would to Appleton.

"I'd sure want to be attached to the city of Appleton for all school purposes," said Arthur Lecker, town supervisor.

Words for Lent

The Forgotten Word

BY CHARLES M. CROWE

"Now the God of hope fills you with joy and peace in believing, that ye may abound in hope."

— Romans 15:13

Albert Camus, the French atheist, knew that hopelessness comes from a denial of God. In his book The Myth of Sisyphus, he compares man's existence today to the fate of the Greek hero, Sisyphus. This character was condemned by the Gods to roll a great stone to the top of a hill. But the gods also saw to it that the stone always rolled down again, even until the end of time. Thus Sisyphus achieved a "total absence of hope." This, declares Camus, is man's situation today. Since God does not exist, under whose spiritual authority do we act? Since there is no future, what's the use of going on? When God disappears, there can be no hope.

This dismal outlook appeals to many modern people. Most of us are guilty of some form of discouragement and pessimism. We have forgotten how to hope.

We need to know that hope is a precious thing and is not just a sentimental notion. For the hope that springs eternal has eternal springs. Men through the ages have refused to accept defeat as the final answer. The Bible has a truer word for us than Albert Camus. For God is, and he is a God of hope. And when we today venture to look up and out and on it is because God has made us that way. And he never betrays us. What save the divine presence could keep Jackson, Miss., and one of the commonest answers will be: I want to play against all the smart cookies!

If you had this hand in a rubber bridge game you'd lose three trumps and heart. You'd go on to the next hand without ever thinking you'd missed a good play for the contract.

As a matter of fact, when this hand was played in a tournament, not long ago, practically everybody went down at four spades. They didn't think about it until they looked at the scoresheet and discovered that one player had made the contract.

How did he do it?

Induces Error
The successful declarer induced an error. It's the kind of error any defender might make — if given the chance.

South won the first trick in dummy with the ace of diamonds and then made the key play. He led the queen of spades from dummy!

Tell the truth: What would you play from the East hand? The actual East put up the king of spades, and great was the fall thereon.

Smart Player
South had an easy time limiting the trump loss to two tricks, and he made his game contract. A pretty smart cookie, wasn't he?

Joseph Running to Perform at College

Joseph Running, pianist who is giving a benefit concert for Phi Mu Alpha fraternity at 8:15 p.m. Monday in Harper hall, has chosen works from Bach to Villa-Lobos for his program.

The concert opens with a Bach toccata, a form especially popular in the 18th century and noted for its brilliance and showy effect. Another 18th century drawing-room musical form is Mozart's "Sonata in B flat Major," representing an important period in the development of the sonata.

A Prelude, Chorale, and Fugue by the "French Bach," Cesar Franck, illustrates his reputation as a master of counterpoint.

Brahms' Composition
"Three Short Pieces" by Johannes Brahms have been chosen from the many he composed and reflect the style and poetic character he absorbed from his friend, Robert Schumann.

The outstanding Brazilian composer, conductor and educator, the late Heitor Villa-Lobos, wrote the final two pieces on the program.

Tickets for the benefit concert by the director of the school of music and professor of piano at Centenary college, Shreveport, La., are available at Heid's Music store. The complete program is as follows:

- Toccata in F sharp minor J. S. Bach
- Sonata in B flat major W. A. Mozart
- Allegro
- Andante Amoroso
- Rondo-Allegro
- Prelude, Chorale and Fugue Cesar Franck
- Intermission

Mother's Helper

by Heimann & Pearson

TRAVEL with a small baby is easier with accessories planned to take the trouble out of feeding time. For example: those first "solids" can be rather sloppy — especially in a moving vehicle. There's a special feeder which pushes the food gently toward the nipple but keeps it under control. No spills possible. (Copyright, 1960)

A Party in the Humphrey-for-President "coffeethon" took place in Appleton Thursday afternoon when Mrs. Eugenie Anderson, second from right, U. S. Ambassador to Denmark from 1949 to 1953, visited with guests at the William Cherkasky home. With Mrs. Anderson are, from left, Mrs. Wesley Smith, Mrs. Richard Vander Velden and Mrs. James Young.

First Woman Ambassador

Mrs. Anderson Describes Duties With U. S. Embassy in Denmark

Clintonville—An ambassador has three main tasks. Mrs. John (Eugenie) Anderson, America's first woman ambassador, told Clintonville High school students Thursday morning. She described many experiences as ambassador to Denmark.

The ambassador's first task is to be the chief executive of the American mission in the foreign country. The ambassador's work corresponds to that of the president in the United States, she said.

Secondly, she continued, it is important to have social contacts with the people.

The third task, Mrs. Anderson told her audience, is to represent the government of the United States in official negotiations.

"I think there is nothing more important in our democracy than political participation by all our young people," she said. "The people who are in charge of the government today are getting older and your turn is going to come up very soon, and it is very important you know what is going on in the world and what is going on at home."

Later in talking with a representative of the school newspaper, Mrs. Anderson compared education in Denmark and America.

Appointed by President Harry Truman as America's first woman ambassador in October, 1949, she arrived in Denmark two months later with her family, and served until her resignation in January, 1953.

Former Diplomat Tells Why She Backs Humphrey

Mrs. Eugenie Anderson, first U. S. woman ambassador, wound up a day of speaking in the Fox Cities area with a talk to 38 women at a tea Thursday afternoon.

Campaigning for Sen. Hubert Humphrey, she cited him as a humanitarian who is concerned with human welfare and has backed health, housing, pension and conservation projects.

She said his food for peace plan put the free world in a stronger position and helped build up a stronger Asia.

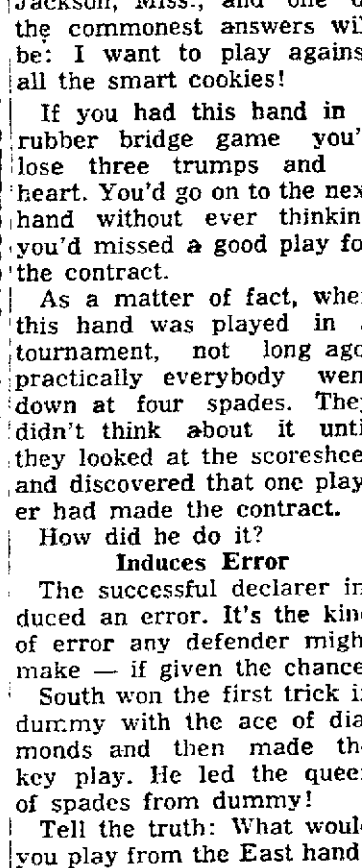

Mrs. Anderson, one of the organizers of Americans for Democratic Action, backed Humphrey for senator in 1948 when she was a national Democratic committeewoman. She was ambassador to Denmark from 1949 to 1953.

The tea was sponsored by Outagamie county Humphrey supporters and was held at the home of Mrs. William Cherkasky, past county Democratic party president.

On Humphrey Tour
Mrs. Anderson was accompanied by Mrs. Ethel McMurray, Stevens Point, secretary of the Wisconsin for Humphrey committee, and Byron Adams, Wisconsin Rapids.

Seventh district Democratic chairman.
Mrs. Anderson spoke to workers of the Hansen Glove corporation, Clintonville, at a noon luncheon at Egan's cafe.

Lawrence Orchesis Group Readies Production

"Have Leotard . . . Will Travel" is the theme chosen by Lawrence college's modern dance club, Orchesis, for its program at 8 p.m. today in Stansbury theater. Miss Carol Chmiel, 539 N. Linwood avenue, president, entitles her dance "Calypso—Jamaica."

"Slave Market in Rome" is the title of this dance by Emily Stong, Milwaukee, and Susan Brehm, St. Louis, Mo. Tonight's program is open to the public and tickets are available at the door of Stansbury theater.

Depicting the Old West are Andrea Peters, St. Charles, Ill., and Enid Skripke, Milwaukee, members of the Orchesis dance group who will present a program at 8 p.m. today in Stansbury theater. Scenes from the Alps, Hawaii and Bourbon street will be included.

Istomin Impresses Series Audience

BY JAMES W. MING

Waldstein Sonata, Opus 53. Is-

An evening of resplendent piano playing was given last evening in Lawrence's Memorial chapel by Eugene Istomin, pianist. His Appleton debut marks him as one of America's foremost pianists. Throughout one could not fail to be impressed by the deep expressivity of his playing, the maturity of his conceptions, and the fact that his prodigious technique was always subservient to the music.

A charming, little known Sonata in A by Haydn of delicate and lyrical beauty opened the program. Schumann's Abegg Variations is one of these works often played, but seldom actually played. Though an early work, it foreshadowed much of what was to come later in the bigger Schumann works and in its masterful exploitation of pianistic sonorities and idiomatic figurations, it suggests music similar to that of Chopin. Istomin's brilliant performance made one aware of its charm, not its difficulties.

Musical Highlight

The musical highlight of the evening was Beethoven's

Two Encores

An insistent audience demanded and received two encores—Schubert's E flat Impromptu, lovingly played at the correct very fast tempo, the only one which reveals its true musical design, and Mendelssohn's poignant Song Without Words in G.

In retrospect, two aspects of Istomin's art come to mind: his personal search for the ultimate musical truths, and his devotion to program building of the very best literature. Pianists present were noting with interest the extreme economy of movement in his playing. Everything was directed at the heart of the music. This beautiful program should serve to remind Appleton audiences of their good fortune to have had two concert series this season which have presented concerts of the very highest quality.

"The Creation" Will be danced by Anne Pelizzoni, Tulsa, Okla., Mary Schindell, Louisville, Ky., and Mary Hamilton, Milwaukee, at the modern dance program to be presented tonight at Lawrence college's Stansbury theater.

Your Problems

Sweet, Refined Office Girl Wins Heart of Fellow Worker

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN: I started to read your column for laughs. Now, three years later, I find myself turning to you for advice.

A young girl came to work in this office a year ago. She's a beautiful little doll, sweet and refined, and everyone loves her. I should tell you she's 21. I am 30.

Landers

Last week she came to work looking sick and pale. She fainted at her desk. I drove her home. She sobbed out the story that she's pregnant, can't work much longer and doesn't know what to do.

The man responsible posed as a single fellow. He is married. The heel gave her a check for $1,000 to "get lost" which she tore up and threw in his face.

the difficult months ahead and arrange for adoption.

DEAR ANN: Why are wives always blamed when the marriage fails? I'm sick of articles on how to keep your man happy.

The articles say a woman shouldn't bore her husband with things that happen in the house, or with the kids. Why not? It's his house, too—and they're his kids. He should be interested.

A woman is supposed to cater to a man's every whim, but let her ask him to fix the doorknob and he's too tired. She's supposed to flatter his ego and treat him like a little boy or he might run to some other woman who will.

If the average husband said to his wife "Honey, I love you," she'd probably faint from the shock. After the honeymoon most husbands forget to open doors, use awful table manners and they stop doing all the little nice things that made them attractive during courtship.

You'll probably never print this because you always side with the men but I feel better already. — The Wife

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am one of four daughters. We are all married and have nice homes and families. My mother and dad are both in their 70's and in poor health. My sisters take turns having the folks for a few months at a time. My husband put his foot down and refuses to let the folks stay with us. I feel guilty because I'm not able to do my share. My sisters have never criticized me openly but I know they must be saying and thinking plenty.

My husband is a very obstinate person and there's no changing his mind. He's a good husband and father, has no bad habits, and we get along fine — except for this one thing. Please tell me what to do. — R.S.V.P.

Dear R.: You're living under a family dictatorship. My condolences. You should insist that you contribute financially to your parents to compensate for not being able to take them into your home.

Visit them often and relieve your sisters by sitting with the folks, baking and cooking what you can, and being helpful in general.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

Homemakers Will Discuss Accessories

A series of homemaker project meetings on the choice and use of accessories will be conducted by Miss Nyla Bock, county home demonstration agent, throughout the county.

The meetings will be March 23 at Seymour, March 24 at Nichols, March 25 and 28 at Appleton, March 30 at Little Chute and March 31 at Dale.

The Homemakers' executive council will meet Tuesday noon at Lamer's Tea Room in Little Chute to plan the spring council meeting set for April 5 in the Ambrosia room of the Elm Tree bakery.

The group also will select committee members and plan the Achievement day program April 27 at Wilson Junior High school.

Mother Tells Engagement Of Daughter

Mrs. Harold Greening, Fond du Lac, recently announced the engagement of her daughter, Barbara Ann Thompson, 843 E. South street, to LeRoy Hilker, New London. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Hilker, route 2, New London.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Goodrich High school, Fond du Lac, and now works for the Wisconsin Telephone company in Appleton. Her fiancé graduated from New London High school and is employed by Murphy Construction company in New London.

The engaged pair is planning an August wedding.

Scouts Nominate Dinner Delegates

Delegates and alternates for the annual dinner to be held July for girls in the seventh and eighth grades. A display of program ideas was set up for the leaders and a workshop day was planned to show the art of coloring Ukrainian Easter eggs.

Mrs. William Dutcher was appointed Brownie consultant for West neighborhood. Mrs. Carroll McEathron and the Rev. Gerald Falk, of St. Mary parish, were guests.

Mrs. Leo Butler showed slides of the Chalk Hills camp and the Senior scouts' trip to the Black Hills. Coffee was served during a discussion period. Mrs. James DeYoung and Mrs. N. S. Derringer were hostesses.

Auxiliary Endorses Officers

Mrs. Edward Arndt, Jr., Appleton, was endorsed as Ninth district president and Mrs. Allen Gunderson, Shioc-ton, was endorsed as department vice president, when the Outagamie county American Legion council met at Mt. Calvary Lutheran church in Kimberly, Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Arndt is first vice president of the Ninth district. The district convention will be April 30 at Lena.

Mrs. Gunderson is department historian and department junior activities chairman. The department convention will be July 16 at Green Bay.

The auxiliary units in the council reported a donation of $338 for the county school for retarded children.

The project was discussed by a panel moderated by Gustave Keller, Appleton, and comprised of Mrs. Florian DeGroat, Little Chute; Roland Nack, Appleton, principal of Morgan school, and Dr. R. F. Scherzinger, Little Chute, president of the Outagamie Citizens for Retarded Children, Inc.

In Good Taste Wrong for Donor to Bring Gift BY EMILY POST Dear Mrs. Post: A friend and I have been exchanging birthday presents for several years. This year we decided to discontinue the practice, so when her birthday arrived, I merely sent her a very nice birthday card and nothing else. On my birthday, which was a month later, I invited this friend and her husband in to dinner and imagine my surprise when she handed me a birthday present. I told her that we had agreed not to exchange presents and as I didn't give her a present for her birthday, I would not accept it. My husband thought me extremely rude and said that I should have accepted it no matter what. I feel that as we had made an agreement not to exchange presents, I was quite right to refuse it. Will you please give me your opinion? Answer: Having agreed not to exchange birthday presents, she was wrong to have brought you one, but even so, it was certainly not gracious of you to refuse it once she had brought it. Duces Win Cage Playoff At Little Chute

Tips Nick's Bar, 59-53 for Title In Basketball Loop

Little Chute — Duce's bar copped the championship of the Recreation Basketball league with a 59-53 victory over Nick's bar in a playoff game at the high school gym.

The champions had copped the first round title and Nicks came back to take the second half crown.

Duces trailed through the first half but rallied in the third period to triumph. Nicks had a 29-24 intermission advantage but Duce's counted 18 in the third period while holding Nicks to just six points.

Nicks jumped off to a 17-12 lead in the first period and both teams added 12 markers, where they are soaked to re-in the second stanza. In the move snow and ice Logs entered one of two drum barkers while Duces collected 17.

Dick Verkuilen paced the winners with 21 points and Tom Geerts chipped in with 14. For Nicks, Rog Vander Wust hit 11 field goals and rubbed off the logs by the four free throws for 26 markers. Dick Mulry added 10.

Woodroom Changes at Thilco Termed Success

$400,000 Modernization Program Aids In Quality of Chips, Cutting Costs

Kaukauna — The recently completed $400,000 modernization project in the woodroom of the Thilmany Pulp and Paper company has proved to be a successful effort to improve chip quality and reduce handling costs, according to C. L. Dostal, manufacturing vice president of the firm.

Installation of a new drum barker and replacement of the former chipper, together with a unique Thilmany designed log control system, has made it possible to handle larger diameter wood, with a one-third greater capacity.

In operation, the 100-inch logs of pulpwood, up to 24 inches in diameter, enter the lead in the first period and both teams added 12 markers, where they are soaked to re-in the second stanza. In the move snow and ice Logs entered one of two drum barkers while Duces collected 17.

Dick Verkuilen paced the winners with 21 points and Tom Geerts chipped in with 14. For Nicks, Rog Vander Wust hit 11 field goals and rubbed off the logs by the four free throws for 26 markers. Dick Mulry added 10.

This Giant 1,250 Horsepower motor generates the power to turn the chipping blades which grind up the logs in the Thilmany Pulp and Paper company, Kaukauna. Recent $400,000 modernization in the woodroom has enabled the firm to get a better quality of chips and reduce handling costs.

Chipper Design

The chipper to which logs are fed was built by D. J. Murray company, Wausau. Logs fall from the conveyor belt into a chute and are chewed up in one or two seconds by a large disc which holds 15 razor-sharp knives. Paddles on the outside circumference of the disc generate a powerful current of air which carries chips up to a cyclone and surge bin.

Chips from the bin are metered onto a rotary table which in turn feeds the chips to a conveyor which carries them to storage area over the digester room. The motor powering the chipper is 1,250 horsepower supplied by Marathon Electric, Wausau.

Thilmany handles about 160,000 cords of wood a year, wood supplied from Wisconsin, Michigan, Minnesota, Montana, Canada and the Black Hills area of South Dakota.

Prior to modernization of the woodroom there were three 8-hour shifts with five men per shift. Now the same amount of work can be accomplished by two shifts with four men on a shift. Men previously in the woodroom have been relocated at different jobs in the mill.

Winners Named At KHS in Elk Youth Contest

Kaukauna — DeLyle Bowers and Joanne Haen, seniors at Kaukauna High school, were named Elks Youth Leadership award winners at the school and received $25 savings bonds from the Elks.

The two will have their history entered in state competition for further honors. State winners advance to national competition. Last year a Kaukauna representative won third place in state competition.

Open to all seniors, awards are based on leadership in the school, activity participation, scholarship and organization. A faculty committee headed by Noel Diffatte, instructor and Elk member, judges student applications and selects the winners.

The two winners received Mrs. Edward Ludke, Mrs. Louis Borree, Mrs. Harold Kiffe, Mrs. Elmer Vanden Heuvel, Mrs. Guy Blouin, Mrs. John Feldkamp, Mrs. William

An Employee of the Thilmany Pulp and Paper company, Kaukauna, looks over the razor-sharp cutting blades of the chipper which is capable of chewing up a 24-foot log in a matter of seconds. The cover has been removed to permit work on the blades.

KVS Sunday Open House Ends Most Adult Classes

Kaukauna — Plans have been completed for the annual open house at the Kaukauna School of Vocational and Adult education to be held from 1 to 5 p.m. Sunday. The event usually marks the end of most adult classes at the school.

Visitors will enter through the side doors at the east side of the building and members of the Afternoon and Evening Homemaker clubs will take registrations and serve as guides. Co-chairmen of the hostesses will be Mrs. Joseph Scherer and Mrs. John Reuter.

Serving as hostesses will be Mrs. Edward Ludke, Mrs. Louis Borree, Mrs. Harold Kiffe, Mrs. Elmer Vanden Heuvel, Mrs. Guy Blouin, Mrs. John Feldkamp, Mrs. William

Activity Planned

Classes where live demonstrations will be given include fashion design, automatic sewing machines, hospitality, foods, lapidary, machine shop, upholstery and photography. Projects from about 40 classes will be displayed in vocational school rooms.

One of the highlights of the afternoon will be a style show in the civic auditorium at 3:15 p.m. with women and children modeling items made in various sewing, knitting and fur restyling classes. Narrator will be Mrs. Marcus Nigl.

Instructors will be on hand to answer questions and the school office will be open to answer inquiries about fall registration. No registrations will be accepted but names of persons interested will be taken and a fall schedule mailed them later in the year. Special awards of items be given at the April 5 meeting will be presented during the afternoon.

New Editors To Handle KHS Publications

Try-Outs Continue To Enable Adviser To Pick '61 Staff

Kaukauna — Continuing try-outs to determine the editors of school publications for 1960-61, new editors will take over the two newspapers for the fourth 9-week period.

A student from the first shift working on the "Broadcaster" and one from each page of the "Kau-Hi News" will serve as advisers for students replacing them. Miss Frances Corry, adviser for both papers, will select next year's editors on the basis of performance in the try-outs.

Student advisers for the next nine weeks will be Barbara Otte, Karen Lindemuth, Karen Siebers, Rita Simon, Susan West and Michael Nagan.

New Editors

Editors in charge of the "Broadcaster" for the new period are Don Beyer, Michael Rogers and Karen Siebers. Handling the front page of the "Kau-Hi News" will be Donna McGinnis, Rita Simon and David Foxgrover.

Susan Gerend and Sharon Spice will be responsible for the second or editorial page while the third page will be under the direction of Susan McCole and Judith Weber. Page four or the sports page, will be handled by Mark Olive and Kenneth Kavanaugh. All editors trying out are juniors.

Homemaker Club Of Kimberly to See Style Show

The event was scheduled early this year, cancelled and now has been rescheduled. Items to be modeled will be furnished by the Fashion Nigl.

Shop and homemakers serving as models will be Mrs. Jerome Polman, Mrs. Joseph Polman, Mrs. John Van Munn and Mrs. Steve Kuepper.

Mrs. David Asman will serve as narrator. A demonstration on outdoor cookery mailed them later in the year. Special awards of items be given at the April 5 meeting will be presented during the afternoon.

Little Chute Legion Plans Birthday Observance Sunday

Little Chute — Final plans for a Legion birthday party, state, Jack Metz reported on to be celebrated with dancing, refreshments and lunch at the Combined Locks pavilion at 8 p.m. Sunday were completed at a meeting of the American Legion Monday night.

Art Mehren, Ninth district commander of Antigo, presented the local unit with an honor ribbon for having exceeded its membership as of Dec. 31, 1959 and reported on the new therapy building being erected at Camp American Legion.

He showed colored slides taken at department headquarters in Indianapolis, of the state convention at Kenosha and of the national convention at Minneapolis.

Members voted to purchase new colors for the post and to

Committee Named

Named to the nominating committee were William Winjus, chairman, assisted by Art Pennings, Sr., Lloyd Vanden Heuvel, Sylvan Lamers, Leonard DeCoster, Gordon Hammen and Ray Bongers. The group will present a slate of officers for consideration at the April meeting.

Judy Hantschel, St. John High school student who represented the post in the Legion oratorical contest, presented her talk and was awarded a $25 savings bond by the unit.

A picnic committee meeting was scheduled for March 24.

Firemen Answer Call For Chimney Fire

Kaukauna — Firemen were called about 9:15 a.m. Thursday to the Glenn McHugh residence, 1114 Desnoyer street, for a chimney fire.

Firemen used soot blast to clear the chimney and reported no damage.

Colavito Hits Another Homer As Tribe Wins

Chisox Hurlers Combine for 1-Hit Shutout of Nats

By The Associated Press
 "Don't knock The Rock."
 That was the battle cry of Colavito fans during "Rocky's" off-season salary wrangling with Cleveland General Manager Frank Lane. The Indians' general manager apparently got the word because Rocky received a salary increase of 25 percent to $35,000.

But Colavito was reportedly after $40,000, and he grudgingly accepted the lesser amount.
 Now it's the Rock whose doing the knockin'. And with the same big bat that hit 42 home runs last year to share the American league crown with Harmon Killebrew of Washington.

Red Sox Lose
 At Tucson Thursday, Colavito homered for two runs in the sixth inning as the Indians came from behind for a 4-3 spring training victory over the Chicago Cubs.
 It was Colavito's fourth homer in five games.
 In the other Arizona game, at Scottsdale, the San Francisco Giants scored three times in the eighth to hand the Boston Red Sox their first loss in five spring games, 4-3.
 Rain slashed a 6-game Florida schedule to two with the Chicago White Sox beating Washington, 1-0, at Orlando and Kansas City edging Baltimore, 3-2, in 10 innings at Miami.

The White Sox gave the Senators just one safety. Rookie pitchers Ed Hobaugh, Gary Peters and Stover McIlwain combined for the performance. McIlwain gave up the hit — a single by Steve Korceck — with two out in the eighth.

The White Sox, who had only four hits, scored in the fourth off Tom McAvoy. Jim Landis doubled and scored on infield outs.

The Orioles managed only two fourth inning runs on 11 hits, including three by Gene Woodling. The A's had only five hits, but the big one was a run-scoring single by rookie Leo Posada with two out in the tenth.

Maris Bright Spot In Yanks' Camp

St. Petersburg, Fla. — (AP) — Roger Maris, the outfielder obtained in a trade with Kansas City, is one of the bright spots in an otherwise drab New York Yankee training camp. He has hit safely in all five exhibition games the Yankees have played for a heavy .367 average.

Powerful Waukesha Jars GBW, 84-68, Plays Wausau in Semi-Finals Tonight

Menomonee and Rice Lake Also Win in Tourney's First Round

BY DAVE O'HARA
 Madison — (AP) — Waukesha's highly-favored Blackshirts meet upset-minded Wausau while Menomonee and Rice Lake, a couple of teams with fine records, clash for the other championship berth tonight in the semi-finals of the forty-fifth Wisconsin high school basketball tournament.

The well-drilled Waukesha entry, seeking to become the first state champion since 1941 to go through a season undefeated, picked up plenty of additional backers by trouncing Green Bay West, 84-68, in Wednesday's quarterfinals before a record afternoon turnout of 14,538 fans.

The convincing triumph was the highlight of the opening round of play at the University of Wisconsin fieldhouse. It came just after Wausau kicked off the tournament by dashing the hopes of little Gale-Etrick, 64-59.

Second-Half Surge
 A few hours later, before a record opening evening crowd of 14,471, Menomonee eliminated Watertown, 66-49, with a second half surge and Rice Lake rallied from an 8-point deficit to edge Racine Park, 55-54.

Waukesha raced to a 49-26 lead in the first two periods, hitting on 19 of 36 field goal attempts, but cooled off in the third quarter and was outscored by a 23-14 margin by Green Bay West, the only state tournament team in 1959 which managed to win a berth this year.

However, the powerful machine got back in gear in the final period and the Blackshirts coasted to their twenty-fifth consecutive triumph in a row dating back to the 1938-59 campaign.

5 in Double Figures
 The well-balanced Waukesha attack had five players scoring in double figures. Dennis Olson was high with 20 points, followed by Roy Birk with 19, Bob Lawrence 15 and Tony Gabrysiaak and Chuck Waldenburg with 14 each.

Green Bay West, unable to capitalize on a height advantage against the versatile and speedy Waukesha players, suffered its seventh loss as compared with 17 victories. Clyde Trudeau paced West with 16 points, and Tom Quinn added 15.

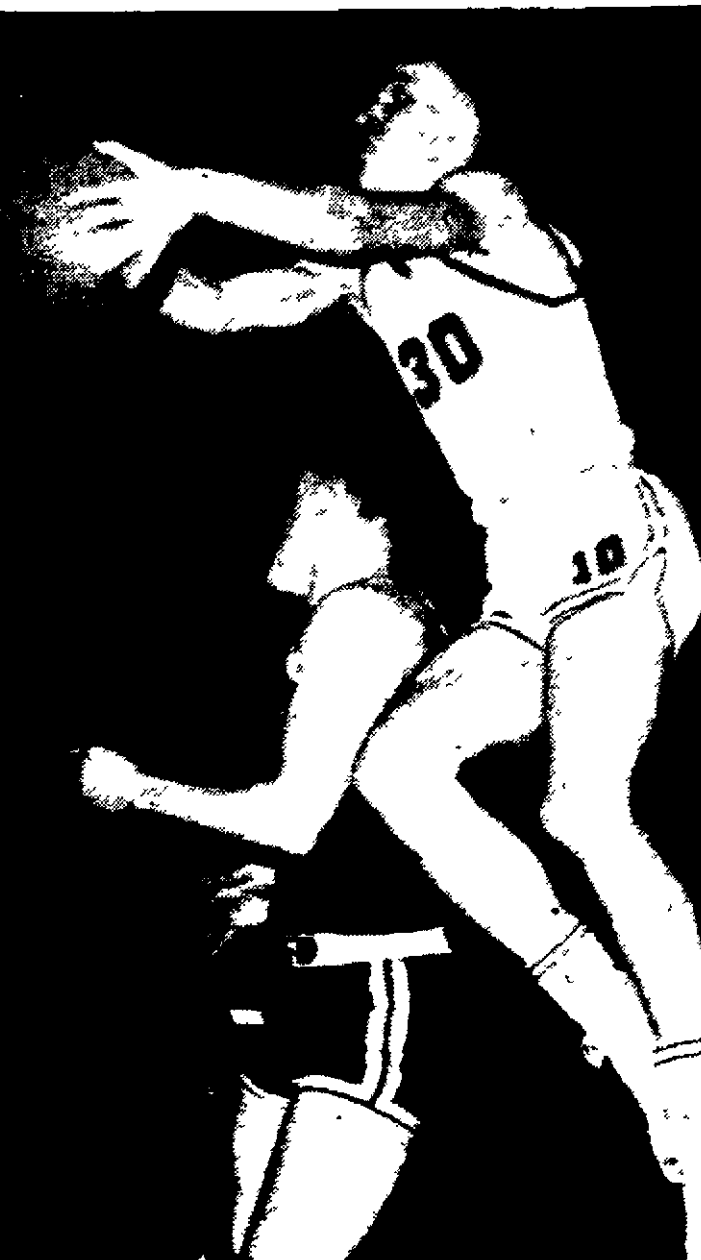

Wausau earned its sixth straight triumph by rallying behind the set shot artistry of 5-10 guard Joel Ungrodt.

The Lumberjacks blew a 6-point lead early in the fourth period and trailed, 51-50, with five minutes left. Ungrodt then hit on two rifle-like shots and Manny Cyr added a pair of foul conversions to put Wausau ahead to stay.

The victory was the fifteenth against nine losses for Wausau. Gale-Etrick, a member of the little school class with slightly more than 250 students, suffered its fourth loss in 24 outings.

Gets 22 Points
 Gary Kirk and Ungrodt, with 16 and 14 points, respectively, led Wausau. Larry Tranberg pumped in 22 for Gale-Etrick, while teammate Jack Brenegan contributed 18.

Menomonee swept into the semi-finals by scoring seven straight points, breaking a 28-28 deadlock, in the third period.

'First One's the Biggest,' Says Waukesha Pilot Bob Duckett

Madison — (AP) — "Well, we got over the first one," Coach Bob Duckett of Waukesha said with a grin as he walked off the floor with his basketball team that won its opening game in the Wisconsin State High school tournament Thursday.

"The first one's always the biggest," he said. "You never know until you got that one behind you." It was Waukesha's twenty-sixth straight victory.

Waukesha won its opening game by beating Green Bay West, 84-68. It will meet Wausau in a semi-final game tonight.

Bradley's Chet Walker Scores 27 Points in NIT Win Despite Illness

Possible Drugging of Orange Juice Being Probed; Providence to Play for Title

New York — (AP) — Bradley's top-seeded Braves and upstart Providence meet Saturday afternoon for the championship of a National Invitation basketball tournament marred by fears of a drugging incident.

"Sophomore Chet Walker, high-scoring 6-7 star of Bradley, remained under treatment today after becoming ill after drinking a glass of orange juice delivered to his hotel room by a stranger in a red uniform shortly before the Braves beat St. Bonaventure, 82-71, Thursday night.

Utah State Falls
 Providence, unseeded in the tournament, joined Bradley in the final with a 68-62 victory over second-seeded Utah State in the second game of the semi-final doubleheader that drew a capacity crowd of 18,496 to Madison Square garden.

An analysis of a sample of the juice was to be made today by police, who were called into the case after Walker and roommate Al Saunders reported the incident to Coach "Chuck" Orsborn. A detective said he was inclined to think the incident was a harmless prank. Orsborn said Walker sometimes has a nervous stomach before a game "but nothing before like this."

Although nauseous and weak, Walker played 23 minutes and scored 27 points for Bradley, including five in a row that put away the victory in the closing minutes. Then, "feeling weak and tired," he was put to bed at the hotel.

Praises Owens
 "For a boy as sick as he was, I thought Walker played a wonderful game," said Orsborn. "Mike Owens played very well, too, and did a wonderful job of puncturing St.

Cornell Star Picked On Third Team of Little All-America

(From AP Dispatches)
 Cornell college's Ron Altenberg, 1959-60 Midwest conference scoring champion, was named today to the third team of the Little All-America basketball squad selected by The Associated Press.

The first team is made up of one junior — Marv Bachmeier, of North Dakota State — and four seniors: Evansville's Ed Smallwood, Southwestern's Charles Sharp, American university's Willie Jones and St. Joseph's (Ind.) Bobby Williams.

Sharp, a 6-6 hookshot artist, is the only repeater from last year's first team.

Chuck Davis, a 5-9 ball-handling wizard who led the Westminster (Pa.) Titans to second place in the NAIA tourney, headed the second team.

Dennis Bonne of Regis, Jim McDonald of West Virginia Wesleyan, Don Perrelli of Southern Connecticut and Tom Cooke of Chapman (Calif.) round out the second team.

Named along with Altenberg to the third team are Nebraska Wesleyan's Rudy Stoehr, Redlands' (Calif.) Jack Schroeder, North Carolina A. & T's Al Attles and Williamette's Ed Grossenbacher.

Grid Giants File Suit To Prevent Flowers From Playing in AFL

Oxford, Miss. — (AP) — The New York Giants of the National Football league filed suit Thursday in the U. S. District court here to prevent All-America Charlie Flowers from playing with another team.

"We have a legal contract with Flowers and will take steps necessary to enforce that contract," said Giants President Jack Mara after he learned Flowers had signed with the Los Angeles Chargers.

Los Angeles — Paulie Armstrong, 135, Los Angeles, outpointed Hilario Morales, 136, Mexico, 10.

29 Players Listed on Fox Cities' Reserve Roster; Weaver Will Work With Batterymen Initially

BY JOHN L. PAUSTIAN Post-Crescent Sports Editor

The building of the Fox Cities' 1960 professional baseball team — a stronger version of the Foxes, officials optimistically predict — will start Saturday in Thomasville, Ga.

Field Manager Earl Weaver will concentrate on pitchers and catchers during the first few days of spring drills. Candidates for other positions are due to report next Thursday.

Fox Cities, the highest-classification club in the Thomasville camp, is expected to get the pick of the young talent that has been bankrolled and cultivated by the parent Baltimore organization. This will be the Foxes' first year as an Oriole farm club, after having used Washington players for two seasons.

The Foxes have 29 players on their reserve list, but only a fraction of this total is likely to come north with the club next month. Fox Cities will receive a number of players — including some big bonus payees — from the Baltimore, Miami and Vancouver rosters when these clubs start cutting down.

The other farm clubs in the Thomasville camp will be Aberdeen and Stockton (Class C) and Leesburg and Bluefield (Class D).

Stresses Conditioning
 Weaver, who has never finished out of the first division in three years of managing, has announced that the first week or 10 days will be devoted to conditioning and fundamentals (sliding, base-stealing, signs, cut-off plays, etc.)

Starting at the end of the month, camp games will be played mornings and afternoons.

Despite the new affiliation, one former Fox appears on the current reserve roster. He is catcher Roger Bean, who played on loan for about a month with the 1959 Foxes before finishing the season with Wilson (Carolina league) and Miami (International league). Chances are no more than 50-50 that Bean will open this season with the Foxes.

Among the seven or eight top prospects already on the Foxes' roster are three pitchers — Leslie "Buster" Narum, Harry Riggs and Jerry Alford. Bonus pitcher Narum, 6-foot-1 and only 19 years old, had a good, 14-9 season with Class C Aberdeen in 1959.

Riggs (6-3) and Alford (6-1) are fast-balling 19-year-olds who worked in Class D last year.

Top Prospects
 The top infield prospects already on the Fox Cities roster are first baseman Bill Rozich, second baseman Frank Montgomery and third baseman Pete Ward.

Despite experiencing some ankle trouble from a previous season's fracture, Rozich boomed 28 home runs and drove in 94 at Aberdeen while batting .279 last year.

Montgomery hit .305 in the leadoff spot at Aberdeen and stole 30 bases in '59. The 20-year-old Ward hit .321 — fifth high in the league — for Class C Stockton and belted the club-leading total of 16 homers despite shooting for a 360-foot right field wall as a left-handed hitter.

Ray Youngdahl and Charles Johnson, a couple of 21-year-olds, head the Foxes' current outfield prospects. Johnson hit .318 in Class C. Youngdahl, an outstanding defensive player, hit .270 in Class C.

Five of Baltimore's top bonus prospects are on the parental roster and are currently training with the Orioles in Miami. It is considered likely that the majority of this od and then pulling away from Watertown for its 22nd victory against three losses.

The Indians were sparked by the brilliant all-around play of 6-4 aces Hal Fletcher and Dave Stuggerud, who scored 19 and 18 points, respectively, and dominated the boards.

Cahoon Totals 21 Watertown, which had lost only two of its 21 previous starts, was kept in contention for a half by Jim Cahoon, a 5-9 junior set shooter. Cahoon scored 13 of his team's 24 points in the first half and wound up with a total of 21.

The sloppiest game was the windup as Rice Lake fought from behind to finally catch Rice Park despite some nightmarish shooting from the free throw line. Rice Lake outshot Racine 22-20, from the floor but managed to cash only 11 of 29 charity tosses, but some came when needed most.

Pete Huggdahl sank four straight free throws in the final minutes and a half to help pull Rice Lake from behind. Huggdahl took individual scoring honors with 19 points. Tom is Mang was high for Park with 16, one more than Cal Pederson.

Spring Training Opens Saturday For the Foxes group — shortstop Bob Saverine, first baseman John Powell, outfielder Dave Nicholson and pitchers Dean Chance and Arnie Thorsland — will wind up in Foxes' uniforms.

The Orioles have 50 players vying for 25 spots on the roster. The Foxes are the logical heirs to part of the overflow of top-grade young talent.

Thorsland and Chance, both 6-foot-3 and 19 years of age, had glistering rookie seasons in the Class D Appalachian league last in 1959. Saverine had a sensational year in batting (.353) and in most every other department in the same league last year.

Foxes' President Ray McClone, who spent a day in the Baltimore camp recently en route home from a southern vacation, was highly impressed by Saverine's fielding.

Powell, a 6-foot-4, 230-pound slugger, has been tabbed as Baltimore's first baseman of the near future. Baltimore Manager Paul Richards went on record recently with this statement: "The natural thing would be to advance Powell from a Class D league to Class B ball — but he might be able to play in a higher class (AAA in Miami). Thus, the Foxes will have to wait on the Baltimore decision on Powell — as well as on Nicholson.

59 Runs Batted In

In just 56 games of Class D ball last year, Powell batted 351, drove in 59 runs and hit 14 homers. The highly-publicized Nicholson hit 35 homers and drove in 114 runs at Class C Aberdeen. His average was .298.

Among other players on rosters of Oriole triple A farms who could be sent here for more seasoning are pitchers Herman Starrette, Art Quirk and Steve Barber and catchers Jim Carver and Stanland, and outfielder-infielder "Chuck" Hinton.

Hinton was the Northern league's 1959 batting champ, with a mark of .358. Starrette was the ace of the Aberdeen staff, with a 17-7 record. Barber struck out 182 batters in 159 innings of Class D ball.

McClone, who visited with about a month. They are due here for an April 21 banquet. Lee McPhail, among others, while in Miami, re-league season April 24 at ports that he's encouraged about the Foxes' new affiliation and the kind of talent will continue plans for the fast-approaching season at a Weaver and the players will meeting Wednesday night in the Appleton Elks club.

Skiing Conditions Good to Excellent At Northern Sites

Post-Crescent News Service

Green Bay — A wonderful weekend of skiing is in prospect for area skiers, and the way things are going northern areas are predicting skiing into early April.

While northern areas missed the bulk of this week's snowstorms, an inch or so of new powder has dressed up the fine bases on most areas which have lasted all winter. And, the forecast is for pleasant weather with maximum temperatures around the 30-degree mark.

This is the time of the year when water may be running in city streets but northern exposure slopes still offer fine skiing, with the possibility of what every skier dreams of — corn snow. Hidden Valley at Maribel has an inch of new snow on a 6-inch base and conditions are good.

Here's a run-down on several other areas:

Fun Valley, Middle Inlet — Three inches new snow, 6 to 15 inch base, skiing very good. Pine Mountain, Iron Mountain — One inch new snow, 4-16 inch base, skiing good. Brule Mountain, Iron River — One inch new snow, 20-25 inch base, skiing excellent. Rob mountain, Wausau — 6-10 inch base, skiing good.

Thursday's Results: Macs 117, Fitzpatrick 105. KAC 88, Unumth Drugs 61.

Kaukauna — The Menasha Macs and Kaukauna Athletic club advanced in the Kaukauna High School Athletic association basketball tournament Thursday night with victories in the final games of first round competition.

The Macs and Fitzpatrick Insurance of Little Chute tangled in the highest scoring tilt of the meet so far with the Menashans taking a 117-105 victory. Unumth drugs of Appleton fell before KAC, 88-61.

The Macs jumped off to a 29-19 lead in the first period, and were ahead all the way. Jerry Smith set a blistering scoring pace for the winners with 36 points. He got a lot of help from Dick Rohe with 28 points and "Skip" Schuerer with 26.

At halftime, the Menashans built their lead to 62-45. Fitzpatrick's came back in the second half to take a 29-28 scoring advantage in the third period and 31-27 in the final frame.

Tom Geerts hit 27 points to lead Fitzpatrick's. He fouled out late in the fourth period. Five other players hit in the double figures for the losers. KAC jumped off to a 21-15 first period lead over Unumth's and was in little trouble. The winners nearly put the game on ice in the second period by hitting 20 points while the Appleton club was held to only 7.

Ken Roloff and Lee Never had 21 points each to lead the KAC. For Unumth, Dick King hit 10 field goals and three free throws.

Bonaventure's half-court press." Owens, a stubby senior backcourt star, scored only six points but his floor generalship was superb. The Bonnies, who had won 18 in a row, challenged all the way as Tom Stith scored 34 points and Sam Stith 20, but Bradley always had the answer when the score got close.

Saunders also was given a glass of the juice but did not drink it. It is the juice in Saunders' untouched glass that is being analyzed.

Rated Even Bradley, top-seeded in the tournament, was a point and a half favorite when the incident occurred. By game time, the Braves were rated even.

Bradley came from 12 points behind with eight minutes left for a 57-55 regular season victory over Providence on their home court in Peoria, Ill., Dec. 14.

Providence Coach Joe Mulaney said Thursday night "If we hope to win we're going to have to lift our entire game. We made too many mistakes against Utah State. We won because we got the breaks toward the end."

Len Wilkens, Johnny Egan and 6-10 Jim Hadnot did the big job for the Friars, who ran their winning streak to 11. Wilkens had 18 points, Egan 16 and Hadnot 10.

"We gave the ball away too many times," said Utah State Coach Cec Baker, "to beat an opportunistic team like Providence. It'll be a fine final—a close one, I think, if Providence can hit from the outside against Bradley the way it did against us."

Lause 9-5 Choice Over Wilf Greaves

New York —(AP)—Argentina's Eduardo "KO" Lause hasn't fought in the United States in four years but almost everyone in the boxing business still remembers his terrific left hook.

That punch, plus a current victory streak of 14, has made the South American middle-weight champion a 9-5 favorite to beat rugged Wilf Greaves, the Canadian Ruler, in their 10-round television (NBC 9 p.m., CST) fight at Madison Square garden tonight.

Greaves, a husky, 24-year-old blond from Edmont, has won his last four fights.

Art "Archie" VanRyzin, recently selected Michigan High school basketball coach of the year, still gets together annually with former Appleton High teammate Rolie Winter.

Rolie, longtime Roosevelt Junior High school freshman cage mentor, describes his good friend VanRyzin as probably "the best guard in Fox River Valley conference history."

Their 1933-4 Terror club, Winter believes, is the only FRVC team ever to go through its entire season unbeaten, posting a 15-0 record. Other team members were Cern Rankin, Orv Wonsner and John Goehler. Goehler's son, Dave, was a member of Rolie's 1959-60 Roosevelt quintet.

AHS either won or shared five straight FRVC titles during that era, from 1931-5, a league record which still stands. Winter was conference scoring champ in 1934. Van Ryzin was the playmaker that helped Rolie hit 123 points, the highest total in circuit history up to that time.

From Shields
A clipping from the Detroit Free - Press telling of VanRyzin's selection as Michigan "coach of the year" by a committee of six coaches, was sent here by Joe Shields. Art's Appleton High coach. Shields is now a representative of Look magazine in Royal Oak, Mich.

Van Ryzin, 43, has built his Pontiac Central High quint into one of Michigan's foremost Class A basketball powers. At Pontiac for 13 years, Art led his club to Saginaw Valley league titles three of the last four seasons.

After starring at AHS in football and basketball, "Archie" captained the University of Wisconsin freshman cage team. Then, he transferred to Toledo university where he was a football-basketball standout.

Another former Shields-coached AHS performer, Bill Peotter, writes friends that he is now associated with the Russ Lyon real estate investment firm in Phoenix, Ariz.

A player on the Watertown and one on the Wausau High school basketball teams currently performing in the state tournament are familiar to many Fox Cities fans.

Ebbets Field Souvenirs Eyed by Fans

Others Bitterly Resent Destruction Of Ballpark

New York — The "play ball" song may be ended at Brooklyn's historic Ebbets field, but the melody—a raucous razzberry, of course—lingers doggedly on.

Causing the commotion is the Dodger fan, known more for his combative loyalty than for docility or sweetness of temper. Even the former Flatbush aficionados are divided into two camps:

Those who bitterly resent the tearing down of the 45-year-old ball park and those who want souvenirs from Ebbets. Or both.

Fielding these hot verbal beer bottles is Harry Avirom, the man in charge of reducing Ebbets field to nothing more than a field.

"The fans are continually asking me why in heck we're tearing the joint down," says Avirom. "Well, what can you tell 'em?"

Avirom, 44, says he understands their feeling. He's a Brooklyn boy himself and once longed to play ball with the Dodgers.

But the Bums rushed west for California gold and Ebbets was sold for three million dollars to make way for a mammoth apartment house.

Most of the fans have been hounding Avirom for souvenirs before Ebbets field is nothing but a memory.

Form New Club Karting Enthusiasts Seek Paved Course

Karting, a hobby which has been working its way eastward from California, last month officially was recognized in the Fox Cities area by organization of the Fox Cities Karting club — a group that already boasts 25 members.

The new club has three goals, according to William Wooden, route 3, Appleton, club president. One is promotion of a safe, paved course for running the karts. The group will contact the county board to check possibilities of building a track at Plamann park near Apple Creek.

The second goal is safe, competitive karting. In California, kart racing is conducted much like a sports car race, but on a smaller scale. The tracks often are laid out with curves of varying sharpness and long and short straightaways. Drivers must obey safety requirements and course rules.

Family Karting
A driver education program is the third goal. Enthusiasts consider karting a family affair, and say a 4-year-old can become a driver with proper training and a small kart.

Costs of the karts range from a minimum of $40 for parts for a homemade kart to near $700 for some commercially-produced units. Speeds also vary. Some karts strain to reach 20 miles an hour, while those employing an engine to drive each rear wheel reportedly hit 60 or 70 miles an hour.

Karting enthusiasts' universal problem is finding a place to race or drive the vehicles. They are prohibited from road use and must run on private areas such as supermarket parking lots—unless, of course, they find ways of building tracks.

Grid Cardinals Agree to Terms For Rental

Wolfner Hopes for Quick Completion Of Larger Stadium

St. Louis — The newly transferred Cardinals of the National Football League agreed to terms Thursday for lease of Busch stadium but urged speed in the building of a larger stadium.

Cards Managing Director Walter Wolfner said a fair and equitable agreement had been reached with Anheuser-Busch incorporated, owner of the baseball Cardinals, for the use of Busch stadium.

Wolfner, pained upon discovering there is a five per cent city tax and a two per cent state tax on admissions here, said any unreasonable delay in completion of a proposed larger stadium on the riverfront would jeopardize the future of pro football here.

Wolfner and Joseph Griese-dieck, brewery executive who bought an interest in the football club just before its transfer from Chicago last week, met with a committee promoting the new stadium.

CD Being Peppered With Questions About Boat Licensing Law

Only 60,000 Applications Received Though Over 200,000 Boaters are Believed Eligible

Madison — The Wisconsin Conservation department is being peppered with questions about the state's new boat licensing law.

Spokesmen say the agency will have to move fast to come up with answers or be swamped with too much work when lakes and rivers open.

The 1959 legislature passed a law requiring that all motor-powered boats and sailing craft be registered with the state at a $3 fee that's good for three years.

The law also requires that licensed boats have lights for use at night and be equipped with life preservers for each occupant.

The law goes into effect April 1 but license buyers can, if they want, hold off until boats are put in use.

Most queries are about lights and preservers. Questions about lights have been so heavy that the department has prepared a pamphlet showing what the law requires.

Owners of small rowboats, for example, have expressed concern about having to install permanent lighting systems. In this case the department says portable units can be used, allowing boat owners to clamp them on only in event of night use when a motor is attached to the craft.

Many queries involve life preservers in rented boats and who should provide them. Resort owners and boat rental spots show concern.

"The law isn't too clear on this phase so now we're looking at this as a dual responsibility on the part of the boat owner and the person who rents a boat," Walter Zelinski, assistant chief warden said.

"If a party seeking to rent a boat has no preservers, one way out would be for the boat owner to have preservers to rent," he added.

The law says local units of government can set up patrols for enforcing the law, keep will shoot 15 ends.

Question: Does an economy car have to look like an economy car?

Answer: Not when it's the new Dodge Dart. Dart looks like a million dollars — yet is priced down with the lowest. It carries six passengers in Class "A" style — yet operates for just pennies per mile. And Dart's extra-strong Unibody construction keeps it tight and new far longer. No wonder Dart sales are soaring all over the U.S.A.!

You'll like Dart's money-saving ways!

There are many purely practical reasons why the Dodge Dart is a wonderful buy. Low price, for example. And exceptional gas mileage. And greater room and comfort and trunk space. And the solid strength of one-piece Unibody construction—squeak-free, rattle-free, rustproofed. But the thing that really makes Dart such a wonderful buy is this: It is a truly fine car, smartly styled and beautifully appointed. Whatever it is you want most in a car, you'll find that Dart measures up in every respect.

Operetta Proves Fun In Loony Lunar Trip

BY JAY JOSLYN
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

"The Voyage to the Moon" is not Puccini, Verdi or even good Offenbach, but what fun it is!

The Neenah Rotary club ended its 1959-'60 scholarship fund series on the brightest note of the program in the Boston Opera company's English adaptation of Offenbach's operetta suggested by Jules Verne's novel.

With the lunar eclipse but recently witnessed, the "Voyage" was more topical than usual because one of the major facets of the plot was the moon's objection of the earth getting in between it and the sun.

What a Moon

And what a place the moon is! And the moon people! Lunatics! The most moonish was King Cosmos, portrayed by Emile Renan with an outlandish—of course—gait and posture. His daughter—the lady in the moon—as played by Virginia Bitar was truly heavenly, in voice, face and form, and his wife, Queen Pottie, in the person of Jeanette Scavoti, went a long way toward stealing the show with a thrilling voice and an exquisite sense of comic timing.

We earthlings were represented by a handsome trio. Dr. Blastoff, the scientist-leader, was characterized with wit and style by Norman Kelly and Max Morgan gave King Vlan IV a charming elan. Prince Caprice was properly moonstruck in the person of John Frane, but the young tenor's obvious delight in his upper register gave his performance an uneven quality not entirely in line with the jobs of the real pros with whom he was associated.

Perhaps the greatest plaudits are due the nameless crew of supernumeraries. The seven versatile actors, singers and dancers were inhabitants of the earth and the moon, mechanics, scientists, psychiatrists, moon moths, moon flowers, moon camels, snowflakes and icicles, all with verve, good voice and style.

Costumes and Sets

Of course the costumer played a huge part in their success and the success of the illusion. There very well could have been some mountain moon mixed in the imagination, that created 6-eyed, 3-billed servants and creatures that really defy description.

The settings were superb and ingenious. In the chase, inevitable in such nonsense, sliding sets were removed one by one as this pinnacle of antic humor sped to its climax.

Giving form and continuity to the romping on stage was the pit orchestra, 14 men togged out in full dress and a redheaded woman flutist, under the baton of boyish-looking, handsome Russell Stanger. The high point of their efforts was the litting and nearly poignant second-act overture.

The English adaptation by Sarah Caldwell, Clyde Griggs and Eugene Haun was sharp and witty and more up-to-date than even that great seer Jules Verne could have made it.

With all of its scientific in-

Tipsy Drivers Fined $125

Both Involved in Accidents in Winnebago County

Leslie Myhre, 20, of 807 Knight avenue, Neenah, and Dennis Bloechl, 27, of 1817 Sheridan street, Oshkosh, each have been fined $125 for drunken driving by Floyd B. Atcherton, acting municipal judge at Oshkosh.

Myhre was arrested by county police Thursday night after he fell asleep and his car went off Highway 45 in the town of Oshkosh. He refused to take the drunkometer test.

Bloechl changed a previous plea of innocent to guilty this morning. He was arrested March 5 by Oshkosh city police after his car hit a parked car on Algoma boulevard. He pleaded innocent at his arraignment March 7.

Both men lost their drivers' licenses for one year.

175 Juniors Plan To Take Merit Scholarship Test

A total of 175 Appleton High school juniors plan to take the National Merit Scholarship qualifying test at the school at 9 a. m. Saturday, according to H. H. Helble, principal. All students who wish to be considered for 1961 Merit Scholarships must take the test at this time.

The 3-hour test is to show educational development and college aptitude. Emphasis is on broad intellectual skills and on understanding and ability to use what has been learned, rather than on just knowledge of facts.

This test is the first in a series of tests in the sixth annual competition for Merit scholarships. Over $15 million has been awarded in the four years of the program.

Early next fall some 10,000 semifinalists will be named to take more tests. Records of all who take the test will be sent to the high schools for use in counseling students.

sight, "The Voyage" held to the old fable of the moon being made of green cheese, lending a predominant color scheme that was not missed by the nearly packed house of Hibernians of all national origins that received the final Rotary offering with enthusiasm enough—it is hoped—to encourage the Neenah service club to continue its most appreciated service another year.

Oneida Man Dies Shoveling Snow

A 71-year-old rural Oneida man collapsed and died of a heart attack Thursday while shoveling snow at his home.

Edward Metoxen, route 1, Oneida, was found in the yard of his home shortly after noon Thursday by his widow. Death was caused by a heart attack, Bernard H. Kemps, Outagamie county coroner, said. He was a retired section worker for the Green Bay and Western railroad and had been a prominent singer in Oneida tribal ceremonies.

He was born April 6, 1888, at Oneida.

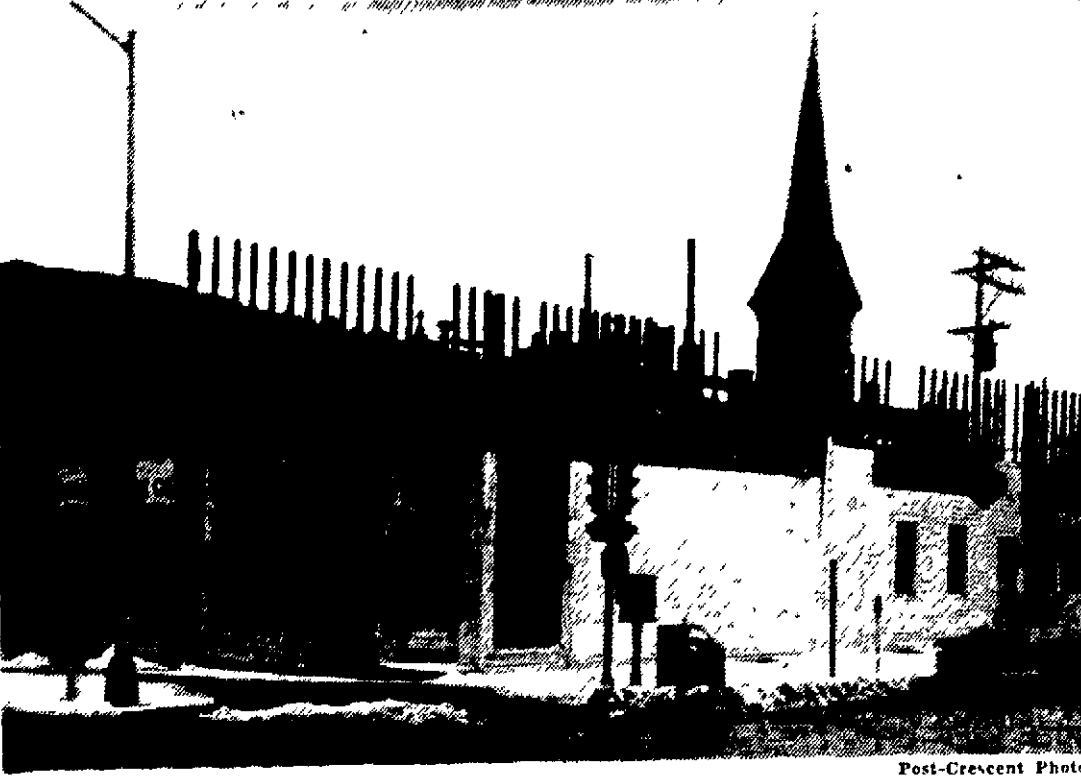

Funeral services will be at 2 p. m. Sunday at Oneida Methodist church. Friends may call at the Ryan Funeral home, De Pere, after 7 p. m. today. Burial will be in the parish cemetery.

Metoxen is survived by his widow; one brother, Alex, Oneida, and two sisters, Mrs. Bessie Summers, Oneida, and Mrs. Esther Hill, route 2, Kaukauna.

$600 Damage Reported In Truck, Car Crash

An auto collided with the rear end of a gasoline tank truck at County Trunk T and Highway 10 in Dale Thursday, causing $600 damage.

Two Appleton Landmarks are making way for a new office building on the southeast corner of College avenue and Walnut street. The corner building was built about 1836, swept by fire in 1934 and remodeled the next year. The next building was built about 1879. The older building's construction features hand-hewn joists and once had a gable roof, typical of that 100-year-ago construction. The corner building for many years housed the Lowell Drug store and a variety of businesses have operated there in recent years.

Today's Deaths

Philip A. Beck

Philip A. Beck, 71, Gravesville, died at 9 55 a. m. today in Chilton after a long illness. He was born May 24, 1888, in Appleton, and lived in Gravesville since the early 1940's. He was a retired machinist and had worked at Tecumseh Products, Inc., New Holstein.

Flashers Ordered For RR Crossings

Automatic warning signals have been ordered for the Owaissa and Charlotte street crossings of the Chicago and North Western railroad tracks.

A hearing on the need for signals was held Dec. 15, and the public service commission has ordered the railroad to install the signals within a year.

The signals are to be automatic flashers with a bell warning, the PSC informed City Clerk Elden Broehm.

St. Pius Home-School Hears Vocation Panel

Priesthood and sisterhood should be considered as vocations, a panel told the St. Pius X Home - School association Thursday.

The panel included Serra club members Gregory Schulte, moderator, Clyde Coenn, Sylvester Simon and Dr. Adrian Popelka. Ralph Moehring summarized the discussion by asking, "Do any of us have a right to play the role of a little god in effecting or opposing or pressuring upon others a state of life that is our choice rather than the choice of the child or of God himself?"

The association is planning a "Spring Fling" dance on May 14 in the parish hall.

Holly Funeral home, Waupaca, until 12:30 p. m. Saturday and then at the church.

School Papers In Fox Cities Win Awards

Columbia Scholastic Honors Received by Kaukauna, Neenah

Two Fox Cities schools won first places in their divisions of the Columbia Scholastic Press association contest.

The Neenah High school "Cub" placed first, along with the Green Bay West "Purple Parrot", in the 1,001-1,500 class and the "Kau-Hi News" at Kaukauna High school placed first in the 751 to 1,000 class.

It was the second year the Kau-Hi News entered the contest and the second victory. Miss Frances Corry is adviser.

The contest announcements were made at the association's 36th annual convention at Columbia university in New York.

Judging of the papers was based on both spring and fall editions.

Responsible for the Kaukauna entries were Rosemary Vanevenhoven, Ann Bachhuber, Judith Borree, Margaret Courtney, Joanne Haen, Dawn Voet, Helen Forde, Jane Barbeau, DeLyle Bowers, Dwight Bastian, Barbara Boyd and Karen Grebe.

The winning Cub editions were produced by Barbara Olson, Hele n Tolversen, Jill Harker, Carole Kruse, Jim Quade, Dick Wilson, Roberta Erdmann, Doris Remmel, Dave McKellips and Steve King.

A dozen Wisconsin high school publications won Columbia honors.

Movies to Highlight Children's Story Hour

Winnebago 4-H Mental Health Group Clubs Top Area Aids County Hospital In Donations

Give Average of $3.13 Per Member To Foundation

Oshkosh — Winnebago county 4-H clubs are on top the list for northeastern Wisconsin in contributions to the Wisconsin 4-H Foundation, Clarence Westfahl, 4-H club agent said today.

County 4-H clubs contributed an average of $3.13 per member while the average for the district was $1.81. Twenty-one counties in the state gave over $3 per member.

Adult and junior leaders, will have a county-wide meeting at 8 p.m. Monday at the courthouse lounge room at which activities common to 4-H clubs in the county will be discussed.

The importance and techniques of adult and junior 4-H leader planning also will be discussed.

A meeting for food leaders on the subject of "Vegetables in Our Meals" was held Thursday afternoon at Grace Lutheran church at Winchester. Winchester 4-H club will meet at the Grace Lutheran church basement at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at which Westfahl will discuss the demonstration activity.

New officers of Mears 4-H club will take over at the meeting at 8 p.m. Thursday at Mears school.

Four Escape Smoke-Filled Apartment

Menasha — Two adults and two children escaped from a smoke-filled apartment about 2:15 a.m. today.

Mrs. Elaine Peterman, who lives at 1041 Main street, noticed the smoke when she returned home from her job as a waitress and reported it to the police station, across the street. Police and firemen went there.

The baby sitter, Miss Shirley Lee, awakened and took up Mrs. Peterman's two children — Rodney, 2, and Renee, 5 months — and left the apartment. Two policemen entered the Schanke. Mrs. Peterman's brother, who was lying on the floor, was taken to the hospital.

Schanke said he fell asleep after he lit a cigarette. Firemen said the cigarette started the fire. Smoke damage in the man, Manitowoc, and five apartment was extensive.

Call Meeting to Discuss Sanitary Sewer District

Report Many Spring Road School Area Wells are Contaminated

Neenah — Creation of a new sanitary district No. 5 of the town of Menasha will be discussed at a meeting of property owners in the Roy Zeh and Carl Schneider plats at 8 p. m. Monday in the Spring Road school activities room.

Residents there have held several meetings with state board of health officials and a survey has been made of the many wells in the area just north of Highway 150 and west of Highway 41.

A large number of wells are contaminated, the state board of health inspectors found.

Their report indicated that considerable ground water is discharged into the underground water supply, resulting in contamination.

State Report
The state report suggested that establishment of the sanitary district would be beneficial for public health and welfare. The sanitary district would be for public water rather than for public sewage disposal facilities since that has not been a problem.

Meeting with the residents Monday night will be Oscar Egger and Donald Carter, district sanitary engineers and supervisors for the state board of health, town board members, Spring Road school board members and George Strohmeyer, town health officer.

Petitions for establishing the sanitary district are now being circulated in the Zeh and Schneider plats.

The Spring Road school well earlier was condemned as unsafe but is now usable since a chlorinator was installed to purify the water. The school has been authorized to drill a new well but the board is holding off on that project until the sanitary district matter is decided.

One suggestion made was that the new school well also be used to serve the affected area with the school included as part of the new sanitary district.

Schedule Adult Sewing Class at Hoover School
Neenah — Spring adult classes in sewing offered by Neenah Vocational and Adult school will begin next week at Hoover school. The classes are scheduled for five and six week periods, meeting twice a week, Mrs. Irma Kyle, homemaker coordinator, has announced.

The courses are designed for experienced sewers with or without previous school instruction. Interested persons can enroll by calling the Vocational school office for information and registration.

Application of basic sewing principles as applied to the making of dusters, blouses, skirts and cotton dresses is scheduled for Monday and Tuesday and Thursday mornings with Mrs. Robert Larson and Mrs. Richard Nelson as the teachers.

Modern clothing construction methods as applied to daytime dresses, sheath dresses and matching jackets, spring coats and suits and sportswear will be instructed by Mrs. Edwin Schwandt Tuesday and Thursday afternoons.

Mrs. Kenneth D. Peterson will teach the course in party-type dresses for girls that can be used for confirmation, choir and orchestra and dances. The design will be ballerina length with shallow scoop or bateau type neckline with cap sleeves and full skirt.

Make Final Plans For Sports Show
Menasha — Lions club members made final plans Thursday for the April 9 Sportsmen's show to be held in Menasha High school gymnasium.

The Menasha club will provide a series of acts booked through Rusty Hagen Enterprises, Milwaukee, including aerial, monkey and dog performances.

Committeemen are James Howley and Gene Funk, general co-chairmen; Richard Laemmrich and David Lenz, program co-chairmen; and Alton Cross, publicity chairman.

Driver Pays Fine for Failure to Yield Way
Menasha — Keith J. Bohmer, 18, 701 Appleton street, paid $10 fine and costs today for failure to yield the right-of-way, which resulted in an accident about 4:15 p.m. Thursday.

His car and one driven by Gerald W. Rohde, 26, 1209 N. Rich, 30, Whitelaw, caught fire when one of the tires blew out on Highway 44 southwest of Oshkosh early today.

The fire was extinguished by the town of Utica fire department. The trailer truck, owned by the Rent-a-Truck corporation of Brillion, was loaded with sand.

Fire Damages Four Rear Truck Tires
Oshkosh — The four rear tires on a semi-trailer truck driven by Clarence F. Diedrich, 30, Whitelaw, caught fire when one of the tires blew out on Highway 44 southwest of Oshkosh early today.

The fire was extinguished by the town of Utica fire department. The trailer truck, owned by the Rent-a-Truck corporation of Brillion, was loaded with sand.

Twins City Deaths
Frank J. Wells
Winneconne — Frank J. "Crappo" Wells, 65, town of Poygan tavern owner, died at 9:30 p.m. Thursday after an extended illness. He was born Feb. 7, 1895, at St. Louis Park, Minn., and moved to Oshkosh when a child.

He was assistant superintendent of streets and street department bookkeeper and later superintendent of the incinerator in Oshkosh until 1932 when he moved to the town of Poygan where he farmed. He opened a tavern on the farm in 1935 and operated it since. For 18 years he was secretary-treasurer of the Winnebago County Tavern league. Wells also served with the police station, across the street. Police and firemen went there.

2 Professors Plan Visit to Oshkosh State

Program Designed To Exchange Ideas Among Schools

Oshkosh — A two-man visitation team from the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary schools will be guests of Oshkosh State college Monday and Tuesday.

Visiting the campus will be Pres. R. W. Holmsted of Indiana State Teachers college, and Prof. Robert L. Hopper, head of administrative and educational services at Michigan State university. The visitation will begin at 8 a.m. Monday and end at 5 p.m. Tuesday.

Dr. James F. Duncan said the program is one designed to encourage the flow of ideas among members of the association. It will give the local administration and faculty an opportunity to learn of innovations at other colleges; the visitors, in turn, will carry ideas from the Oshkosh campus to other schools.

During the two day visit, the men will follow a schedule which will allow study of the physical facilities of the college, its administrative procedures and its education techniques.

The faculty will be able to meet with the visitors formally and informally. Formal events include a luncheon and tea Monday as well as dinner Monday evening with the faculty council. A general faculty meeting with the visitors is scheduled for 3 p.m. Tuesday.

One of the highlights will be inspection of the campus laboratory facilities and will include a visit to Buckstaff Observatory, the most recent addition of major scientific equipment to the college.

586 X-Rays In Menasha in 2-Day Visit

Menasha — Chest X-rays of 586 adults were taken in the Wednesday and Thursday visit of the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis association mobile unit.

Miss Alice Dillon, city nurse said 217 persons were X-rayed Wednesday and 369 Thursday. Wednesday's figure was from only an evening and Thursday's was from an all-day stop.

Excellent response came from housewives, many not previously X-rayed, said Miss Dillon. City employees also had high participation rates, she added.

Response from downtown business people was disappointing, she commented. Two restaurants showed good response, but other businesses did not, she said, even though she sent out 326 personal letters to businessmen asking them to encourage employees to have chest X-rays.

The X-ray screening program was sponsored by the Menasha Tuberculosis and Health association, assisted by the Jaycettes.

Fined $10 for Being Drunk, Disorderly

Neenah — William W. Banach, 32, 805 Ida street, Menasha, was fined $10 and costs by Police Justice E. P. Arpin this morning after he pleaded guilty of being drunk and disorderly. He was arrested at Wisconsin avenue tavern.

10:25 p.m. Thursday after creating a disturbance in a Wisconsin avenue tavern.

Girl Pulls Jackknife On Classmate Weyauwega Pupil To Face Juvenile Court Proceedings

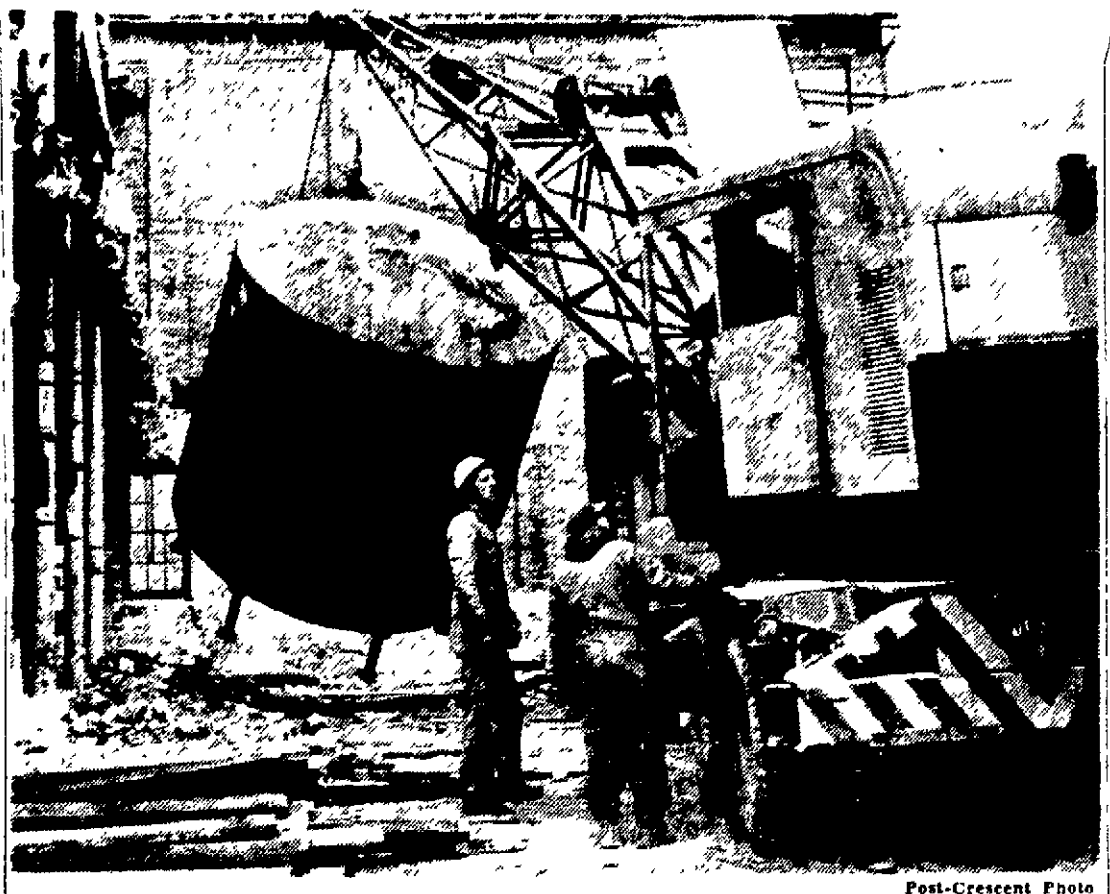

Wauwaga — A 15-year-old Weyauwega High school girl who threatened a classmate with a knife Wednesday afternoon will be taken into juvenile court, according to Ken Thompson, Weyauwega police chief.

The youngster used a jackknife to get more information from a 16-year-old classmate who had remarked that the knife-wielding girl's boyfriend had taken another girl home recently. Thompson said he was called to the high school to investigate. The 15-year-old girl with the knife was hysterical and the other girl had fainted according to the chief. Thompson, who is still investigating, said he took knives away from three other school girls Thursday morning.

3,000 Bushels Of '59 Corn Under Support

Oshkosh — Winnebago county farmers by Jan. 31 had placed 3,000 bushels of 1959 corn under federal price supports, according to Henry Malchow, chairman of the Winnebago county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee (ASC). The 3,000-bushel figure compares with 731 by Jan. 31, 1959 of 1958 corn crop. May 31 is the final date for putting 1959 crop corn under price support loans or purchase agreements. County farmers also placed 1,300 bushels of 1959 oats in the support program by Feb. 15. In the nation, 317 million bushels of 1959 wheat are under price support, compared with 603 million of the 1958 crop. The support program also has 296 million bushels of 1959 corn, compared with 231 million of the 1958 crop.

Neenah Story Hour
Neenah — Stories which Mrs. Clarence Bredendick will tell at the children's story hour at the Neenah Public library at 10 a.m. Saturday are "The Princess and the Woodcutter's Daughter" by Winifred Bromhall, "Pepto's Story" by Eugene Fern and "The 500 Hats of Bartholomew Cubbins" by Dr. Suess.

Brewing Kettles, Tanks and other equipment from the old Walter Brothers Brewing company in Menasha are being salvaged as the old set of buildings is being razed. St. Patrick parish, immediately west, has purchased some of the land.

1959 Sales at Marathon Up 11 Per Cent

Consumer Research Study Includes Door-to-Door Stops

Neenah — Sales of Marathon division of American Can company were up 11 per cent in 1959 over the previous year for the highest mark in Marathon's history.

An article in the current issue of "Maralog," company publication, tells of new products put on the market during last year and of door-to-door research to find out what the housewife likes or dislikes in her food packages. Last year also marked plant expansion at various division units and of equipment additions at present plants. At the Marathon Southern corporation plant at Naheola, Ala., an 80,000 square foot converting warehouse was completed and construction of a new 850 by 85 foot paper machine building started. The new paper machine, which will double that plant's capacity, is scheduled to go into production about Sept. 1.

New Plant
At the Newnan, Ga., plant, a new 400 by 200 foot plant and office building is being built and a change-over from the present leased facility will begin in May with all equipment to be operating in the new structure by October. Additional multi-color printing presses were installed at the Menasha Canal and Washington street plants. Wausau and Newnan plants and other machine installations at the Menasha Washington street, Modesto, Oswego and Toronto plants. The Neenah plant, originally converting flexible packaging only, had equipment installed for converting paperboard also.

Surgeon's Autobiography Added at Neenah Library

Neenah — A doctor who was always on call for a paralyzed child, a hospital full of wounded or a conference with the president sums up his life in his autobiography "Ring the Night Bell," one of several books added to the collection of the Neenah Public library.

Dr. Paul Magnuson emerges in his autobiography as a stubborn, quick-tempered and daring surgeon who began his practice of medicine patching up the wounds of stockyard workers in Chicago and went on to become one of the most noted practitioners of orthopedic surgery.

In "The Kingdom Within" Genevieve Caulfield tells with simplicity, joy and love how she founded a school for the blind in Japan and went on to start other such schools in Bangkok and Vietnam. Her story is made more amazing by the fact that Miss Caulfield was accidentally blinded in infancy.

Book On Nehru
Vincent Sheehan, in his book "Nehru," analyses the achievements of Jawaharlal Nehru and the sources of his strength, shrinkage and immense power in India. Perhaps the most interesting part of the book is the discussion of Nehru as a man, a politician and a diplomat.

Florence Frisbie presents the life of her father, Robert Frisbie, an American writer, in her book "The Frisbies of the South Seas." Frisbie settled in the islands of the South Pacific in the early 1920s, married a native girl and raised a happy, tumultuous family.

College Honors Judith Ann Page

Menasha — Miss Judith Ann Page, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William G. Page, 319 Broad street, was one of 164 students honored in the semi-annual honors convocation at Valparaiso university Wednesday.

Executives' Wives Can Play Dominant Role in Extension of Business

Wives of management and the home life of business executives receive increasingly careful examination by the country's biggest corporations. Psychologists explain they are basic considerations in the conservation of manpower, — the theory being that a man won't be happy in his work if he isn't happy in his home.

The realization, based on countless surveys, is that the modern executive works at home as well as his office. His problems and his responsibilities follow him around the clock, on weekends and on vacations. His briefcase and his "office reading" intrude on every waking hour. The role of a wife of a modern business executive doesn't fit into any easily prescribed pattern. Certainly her responsibilities go far beyond the care and feeding of the young; she is more than a housekeeper.

Role of Wife
How does she entertain her husband's boss? His fellow employees? Her husband's customers? Does she make them feel at home, relaxed? Does she give them a feeling

Test Blouses For Wear in Laboratories

Oshkosh — When purchasing a wash blouse check for finished seams, well-made buttonholes and well-stitched pockets. White blouses made of rayon, cotton, dacron and acetate were worn and laundered for a year by homemakers, business women and college students as part of a study by the department of agriculture.

Laboratory tests were made for strength, shrinkage and how fast the blouse would wrinkle. All blouses looked fresh and smart at the beginning. The inexpensive blouses generally were good buys. Of the materials tested, dacron and rayon blouses seemed to be preferred by the wearers and rated high in laboratory tests. About half the blouses became grey or yellow during the year's washing. Most of these were rayons and dacrons washed by hand. Those blouses with poor seams, sparsely stitched buttonholes and poorly stitched pockets showed more wear than the better constructed blouses.

Orchesis Dancers to Present Original Creations at Oshkosh College Concert

BY PATRICIA SCHULTZ Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Oshkosh — Echoes of mod-ern creating music and the beat of the bongo drum mingling with the soft flutter of wav-ing palm leaves and occasion-al bursts of girlish chatter are among the unfamiliar sounds flowing into the corridors of Oshkosh State college's physical education building.

Inside the spacious gymna-sium, a dozen black leotard clad coeds are nightly prac-ticing their graceful routines, in preparation for a modern dance concert to be given next week.

Lights on the second floor of the 5-year old building, headquarters for the Orchesis group, flicker well into the night as the March 24-25 concert date nears. "We're al-most working 'round the clock," quipped Imogene Christensen, president and charter member of the 3-year old Orchesis club.

ing increasingly popular, she commented. Relating that it began around the turn of the century, Miss Strader called the dance style "one of the youngest of the art forms." "As a youngster, it is doing pretty well," she added with a note of pride.

Movement Leader

One of the leaders of the modern dance movement, Isadora Duncan, inspired by the art of ancient Greece, paved the path for a simple and natural dance. Her practice of dancing barefoot and using little or no scenery to detract attention from the dancing is copied by the Orchesis members.

Leotards are the basic cos-tumes because they "make it easy to see the students' movements," explained the instructor. Tights are worn to protect the legs and to keep the muscles warm. "Once muscles cool off, which they do very quickly, a lot of flexi-bility is lost."

Contrary to its past origins of music giving impetus to the dance, in modern dancing, the music is secondary to the dance. "This isn't always pos-sible," reported Miss Strader, who received her training at Northern Illinois universi-ty and studied in Chicago with Gladys Hight and Nev-ille Black.

Music Fits Dance

"We get a glimmer of what we want to do and then look for music that would be suit-able for this idea and mood. Ideally the dance should be uppermost — the music writ-ten to fit the dance."

Mrs. Roger Dennis, chair-man of the college music de-partment, on past occasions, has written "music to fit the dance" for Orchesis.

The repertoire for the con-cert ranges from "Dement-ia," a dance depicting a web of confusion, to a "Jazz Suite," which will show dif-ferent aspects of the modern jazz movement from the blues to more agitated rhy-thms. A "Folk Suite" will in-clude "Blow the Man Down," sung by the college chorus, an Oriental dance, "Night of the Tiger," and an authentic Israeli folk dance, "Debka Gilboa."

"The finale will be danced in the form of a chess game with Orchesis members as pawns on a chessboard. "We plan to have music written for this number by Dr. Dennis," said the club president.

Future plans of the dance group include the integration of a men's unit. A men's dance group began about two weeks ago. "At least four fel-lows we know will come," re-ported one of the girls. "Ev-entually they will be an inte-grated part of Orchesis."

Dance Director

Directing the production to be given at 8 p.m. both eve-nings in the college Little Theatre is Miss Janet Strader, an enthusiastic exponent of the art of modern dancing. "Our emphasis is on the creative, on encouraging the girls to express themselves and to show the way they feel about the world through movements," the vivacious brunette instructor described the purpose of the organiza-tion.

"The girls work out the cho-reography themselves. The dance is their own creation, an interpretation of an idea of their own. Ideally, it should be something they are just burning to do," she smiled.

Asked for a definition of modern dancing, Miss Strader, gesturing skyward, con-ceded she has been searching for an exact meaning for years. However, she quickly distinguished between inter-pretive dancing and modern dancing.

"I think of interpretive dancing as a sort of flitting through the air to music, a sort of impulsive, spontane-ous reaction to music. It has more improvisation. Modern dancing has more direction, the result of planned move-ment. It involves experimen-tation to find the right move-ment."

Who Joins Club?

Why do girls join Orchesis? Everyone has the need to communicate with others, to express themselves, answered the petite instructor. "Some people paint, some write books or poetry, others do it by speaking." The girls ex-press themselves through the medium of the dance.

"You might compare it to the writer. He has an idea and expresses it through writ-ing. We have an idea and ex-press it through movements." The idea can be retained through dance scripts, she added.

Havelock Ellis wrote "Danc-ing is the loftiest, the most moving, the most beautiful of the arts, because it is no mere translation or abstraction from life, it is life itself." El-aborating on the writer's in-terpretation, Miss Strader de-scribed the modern dance as an expression of feelings in an individual manner.

Modern dancing is becom-

Fantastic Freshman

Tourney Heroics Gave Wisneski Regular Berth on Knight Quint

BY LEN WAGNER

West DePere — St. Norbert college's Green Knights trailed by four points and Carroll college had the ball with just 48 seconds left in the game. The situation appeared hopeless. . . until a well-muscled, 5-10 whirlwind reported into the game, that is.

The little guy with the football legs intercepted a Carroll pass, zipped down the floor and tossed in a drive-in shot to cut the margin to two points. Carroll again took the ball upcourt but the hustling, spry defense was charged into by an overzealous Carroll dribbler.

Standing on the free throw line, Alan "Mike" Wisneski, accepted the ball and calmly popped in his first shot. There was now a 1-point margin and Wisneski shot again, only to have the ball trickle off the hoop. But teammate Don Gardner tapped it back up and in for a St. Norbert lead. Another steal and lay-up shot gave the Knights a miracle 60-57 victory.

No Prep Experience — This heroic performance in the Oshkosh Holiday tournament gave Wisneski, a fantastic freshman without the benefit of high school experience, a regular job on the St. Norbert team for the rest of the year. It was just one of many games in which the Menasha native provided the spark that sent the Knights' winging to a 17-11 record for the season.

Coach Romie Kosnar, who predicted early in pre-season practice sessions that Wisneski was going to surprise a lot of people, is thankful to Mike for "putting life in the team whenever we really needed a jolt of morale."

A conscientious player and student, "Wisco" was probably the most popular member of the team. He captured the admiration of his teammates and Knight fans with his aggressiveness, determination and refusal to blame anyone but himself for lost games.

As a player, Wisneski will

Two Rivers Quint Chalks Up Verdict Over Sacred Heart

Menasha — Host St. Mary outscored St. Mary of Manitowoc 45-42 Thursday night to move into second round play in the Diocesan Grade School basketball tournament.

St. Luke of Two Rivers won over Sacred Heart of Appleton 38-28 in Thursday's other first round match.

St. Mary was held to a 10-10 first quarter deadlock but moved out in front 21-18 at halftime. It had a 32-27 advantage at the conclusion of the three segments.

The Manitowoc entry had a 15-13 edge in the last quarter. St. Mary made nine of its points on free throws. The winners made good on 17 of 25 free throw tries.

Mortell Hits 14 — Tom Mortell led the winners with 14 points on four baskets and six free throws.

"Skip" Beisenstein and Bill Martun each had 10 points. Pankratz collected 20 for Manitowoc.

Sacred Heart led St. Luke 8-7 at the quarter but trailed 18-17 at halftime. The Appleton five was blanked in the third period while St. Luke scored 12 points for a 30-17 score.

Hietpas led Sacred Heart with 16 markers while Brull's 15 paced the Two Rivers marksmen.

Three second round tangles are on the docket this evening. St. Margaret Mary, winner over Oshkosh Sacred Heart in its first start, vies with St. Paul of Manitowoc at 8:30. St. Patrick and St. Agnes of Green Bay are matched at 7:30 and it will be St. Mary of Appleton against defending champ St. Mark of Two Rivers at 8:30.

Neenah — Howard Wendt of the Die Room team and Al Smarzynski of Industrial Relations tallied 585 series to divide honors in the Marathon Men's Bowling league Thursday night at Lakewood Lanes.

Bill Buxton rolled 571, Ben Stepanski 566, Merle Wichman and Jack Witt 561, Ray Dorschner 557 and Mary Englebert 550. There were 16 games above 200 but none of the 225 honor count proportions.

Industrial Relations has a half game lead over Washington Street Plant with its 474-274 record.

"Gib" Brantmier of the Roy's Lunch quintet slammed a 585 trio in the South Side Men's league Thursday night at Lakewood.

Marvin Baxter collected a 583 threesome and Al Kuchebenbecker posted 553. Roy's Lunch leads by 31 games with a 47-28 record.

Neenah Playground Program Shows 15 Pct. Attendance Hike

Neenah — Attendance at the playground program last year of 64,056 represents a 15 per cent increase over the 55,525 counted the previous year, the park and recreation board reviewed in its annual report.

This attendance was counted at the eight playgrounds for a 9-week period as compared with the 1958 figure which was for 10 weeks and at seven playgrounds. When special activities such as baseball, archery, teen-dances and similar programs are included, the participation figure goes up to 80,734, or 18 per cent more than the 68,170 in 1958.

Taft school playground was added to the program last year and provided an attendance of 8,830. Washington park, which previously would have been attended by those in the Taft school area, had an 8 per cent increase to 8,463 rather than the drop that was expected.

Unserviced Areas
The board reported there are several unserved areas, primarily south of Cecil street and east of S. Commercial street. While two school sites are planned in this area, neither will be of sufficient size to adequately serve the recreational needs of the respective neighborhoods, the board thought.

'Lincoln Lords' Analyzes Businessman's Success

Menasha — Cameron Hawley, author who makes every reader an on-the-spot participant in the dramatic world of business, has his latest novel available at Elisha D. Smith public library.

"The Lincoln Lords," an incisively penetrating study of our life and times, tells the story of Lincoln Lord, a very successful businessman, who is suddenly forced to reappraise his whole image of success. Other new novels include a re-issue of Daphne Du Maurier's "The Loving Spirit," the book that first established the author as a master story teller. This book is a compelling tale of romance and adventure set against the rugged cliffs and raging sea of Cornwall. Readers of historical novels will enjoy Madison Jones' "Forest of the Night," a story of the Tennessee frontier of 1802, and Jacquin Sanders' "Look to Your Geese," subtitled "A Novel of the De-flowering of New England," a satire on the Pilgrim fathers. The story of a boy never to be forgotten is told in Hamilton Maule's "Jeremy Todd." No one has written about the west with a surer touch or greater affection than Alfred Guthrie, Jr. A collection of short stories, "The Big It and Other Stories," presents humor, excitement and a feeling for the west and for westerners. For those who enjoy books of detection, the library has added Clifford King's "The Black Beret"; Elizabeth Livingston's "Case Pending"; David McCarthy's "Killing at the Big Tree"; Christopher Bush's "The Case of the Careless Thief"; Laura Douglas' "The Case of the Copper Cat"; and Rachel Payes' "Forsythia Finds Murder." Two new westerns are "Death in the Saddle" by Trev Roberts and "Red Men in Blue" by Ray Tassin. "The Bird of Time" is a new science fiction novel.

Mr. Glenn H. Arthur
Advertising Director
Appleton Post-Crescent
Appleton, Wisconsin

Dear Mr. Arthur:

The year 1959 marked our 14th year in business in Appleton featuring the Hotpoint line of appliances and also, since 1958, the RCA Victor line of TV, Stereo, Hi-Fi and radio. We are happy to inform you that our advertising in the Appleton Post-Crescent has played a most important part in the growth of our business.

We have steadily increased our use of Post-Crescent advertising, and in 1959 used the largest amount of advertising in your newspaper that we have ever used. This represented an increase of 16% over the amount we used in 1958.

We have made substantial and effective use of the added impact of COLOR in our advertising and are tremendously pleased with the sales results. We are so fully convinced of the value of color in producing added sales results that last year 30% of all of our Post-Crescent advertising was in color ... and it really did a job for us.

Especially pleasing to us were the results of a full page color ad we ran in your paper on January 6. This started our annual "Close-Out Sale of 1959 Hotpoint Appliances". In the first 10 days following publication of this ad we sold a total of 56 major white appliances, which represented a substantial increase over sales during the comparable 10-day period of a similar sale event the previous year.

You can be sure that the Appleton Post-Crescent is, and will continue to be, our most important advertising medium.

Yours very truly,
K. A. Hatteberg

UCS Pressed By Agencies For New Drives

Low Funds Cause Cutbacks in Eight Budgets

"Were in a bind and the pressure has been put on," A. Rowland Todd, United Community services executive director, said today.

The bind is a financial one caused by failure to meet the $156,103 campaign goal in the 1958 dund drive. The resulting cutbacks in budgets of the eight Red Feather agencies has caused pressure for supplementary drives.

At a UCS board meeting Thursday, the directors turned down a request by one agency for a supplementary drive.

A policy statement on requests for added drives was expected at the meeting, but UCS bylaws already have a section saying supplementary drives are not permitted unless approved by the board. A committee currently is studying the added fund-raising methods some agencies now use.

Todd indicated supplementary drives will not be permitted this year, but the success of the next campaign will determine whether it will be financially feasible to prevent them in the future.

Embezzlement Case Opens Shawano Ex-Mayor's Transactions Traced In $89,000 Shortage

Post-Crescent News Service

Shawano — Financial affairs of Sherburn J. Dodge, 53, former Shawano mayor charged with embezzling about $89,000 in his brokerage business, were reviewed in municipal court this morning.

Witnesses testifying included Harold F. Brandenburg, examiner for the Wisconsin Securities department and Shawano area bankers.

Dodge was charged last week with 22 counts of illegal practice. Twenty-one counts accused him of converting funds of clients to his own use. The other count charged him with filing false financial statements with the securities department.

Brandenburg testified that Dodge filed a financial statement showing his net worth at the end of 1956 to be $92,979.16. He listed liabilities of about $45,000, but subsequent investigation showed, Brandenburg said, that he had understated his liabilities by $60,140.

Last Sept. 23, Brandenburg stated, Dodge notified the state office that he was unable to raise money to meet current obligations. Admitting that he was short by $30,000 to $40,000, Dodge was given his license suspended and was ordered to appear for a hearing Oct. 14.

Dodge failed to appear, Brandenburg testified, and the license was revoked.

Bankers called as witnesses told of loans Dodge made with their institutions. They included Abner Anton, Emarras State bank; Morris Brenner, Citizens State Bank of Shawano; and Carl Wilke, Shawano National bank.

Condition Report From National Banks Ordered

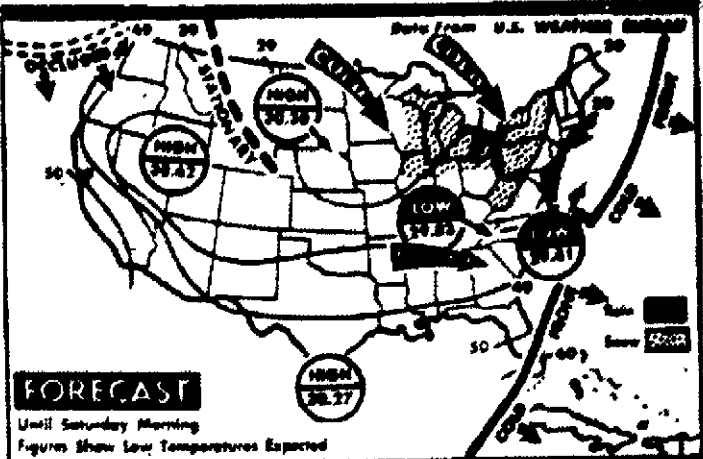

Washington — The comptroller of the currency today issued a call for a statement of the condition of all national banks at the close of business last Tuesday.

The Federal Reserve board also called for condition statements from its members of the same date. However, the Federal Deposit Insurance corporation did not issue such a call.

Madison — The state banking department said today it was not issuing a call at this time on the condition of Wisconsin state banks.

Boy Burned When He Falls Into Hot Water

Appleton police provided an account Thursday while Steven and red emergency light Chavlovich, 1755 N. Elmer street, drove his 10-month-old son to St. Elizabeth hospital. The boy was burned when he fell into a tub of hot water. Mrs. Chavlovich answered a phone.

Precipitation Is Expected to be limited tonight to scattered snow flurries in the Lakes region and central and northern Appalachians. It will continue mild in the northwest and warmer temperatures are forecast for the central and southern plateau through the central plains to the mid-Mississippi valley.

Cameramen Get Show Awards

Five Fox Cities cameramen had photographs exhibited at the Wisconsin Professional Photographers' association meeting in Milwaukee last weekend.

Three photographers of the Pechman studios, Appleton and Kaukauna, won awards.

Richard Jacobs, Milton Kinney and Guy Blouin each entered four prints and had four accepted for showing.

Blouin, of the Pechman Appleton studio, received two court of honor ribbons. One of Blouin's prints was judged best of the show.

Milton Rueckl, of Rueckl studios, had all four of his entries exhibited, and Kenneth Kunstman of Ken-Mar studios exhibited three prints.

Judge Enters Race for Third District Seat

Sparta — John Bosshard, judge of the small claims court at La Crosse, announced Thursday night he would be a Republican candidate for congressman in the third district.

Bosshard, a former La Crosse county district attorney, made the announcement at the Monroe County Republican caucus. Present was former Gov. Vernon Thomson of Richland Center who entered the congressional race a few days ago. The incumbent congressman Gardner Withrow, a Republican, has announced he will not seek reelection this fall.

Stocks Move To Upside

Key Issues Advance From Fractions To Full Point or More

New York — The stock market moved slowly to the upside early this afternoon. Key stocks advanced from fractions to a point or so. A scattering of small losers dotted the list.

A number of specially situated issues were strong. Gains in this category ran to more than 7 for American Shipbuilding which was surrounded with rumors of possible merger of liquidation. Chemicals, drugs, oils, rails and building materials were generally ahead.

Airlines were mostly lower, depressed by news of the Northwest Airlines plane crash. That stock was down more than a point.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 3.04 at 618.13.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .70 at 214.10 with the industrials up 1.10, the rails up .80 and the utilities up .10.

Corporate bonds edged higher. U. S. government bonds were firm.

Fox Cities Get Wide Range of Temperature

The Fox Cities and the state experienced one of the warmest days of the year and one of the coldest nights. The high in the Fox Cities Thursday was 37, the top mark in the state, and the low this morning was 7 above.

Sub-zero temperature was reported at Lone Rock where the mercury fell to 4 below. The low of the nation was 5 below at Marquette, Mich.

Only light snow in flurries remained of the most recent March snowstorm and with the exception of widely scattered slippery spots in the Madison and Milwaukee areas, the state highways were in good winter driving conditions.

All bad weather in the nation seemed to have taken a holiday today. The snow was stopping in the east and the rain drenched southeast was given a chance to dry out. Scores of families in the rain belt in Florida have been forced from their homes by floods.

This morning cloudless skies gave old Sol another chance to remind us spring is only a few days away.

Power Firm Asks About City's Land

Wisconsin Michigan Power company is interested in purchasing a 10.6-acre triangular piece of the Appleton industrial park to build a warehouse for pipe, line materials, poles and similar materials, the firm has notified Mayor Mitchell.

The section in which the firm is interested lies between Lyndale drive, the Soo Line right-of-way and the center line of Second street extended.

Champion Paper Names President

Karl R. Bendetsen, 52, an executive vice president of Champion Paper and Fibre company, Hamilton, Ohio, was named president, succeeding Reuben B. Robertson, Jr., who was killed in a recent traffic accident.

Directors also elected the other executive vice president, Dwight J. Thomson, 44, chairman of the board succeeding Robertson's father, Reuben B. Sr.

Bendetsen joined Champion in 1952 as a consultant after a career in government service that included stints as assistant secretary and under secretary of the army.

Bendetsen became general manager of Champion's Pasadena, Texas, mill, then moved to company headquarters in the operations division. He has been executive vice president for operations.

Thomson is the grandson of Peter G. Thomson, who founded Champion here 67 years ago. He has been executive vice president for converting subsidiaries — the branches that convert Champion mill products into finished items.

Cecil DeMille's Work, Dreams Still Live in Late Director's Staff Moves to His Hollywood Home-Museum

BY JAMES BACON
AP Movie-TV Writer

Hollywood—It's more than a year since Cecil B. deMille died, but his impact on Hollywood—even from the grave—is something to behold.

The famed director's staff has moved from the Paramount lot he helped build to his rambling house at 2010 deMille drive on the edge of Hollywood. But there's no lessening of the work load.

One big task is answering fan letters, many written as if he were still alive. Even the publicity staff is at work because somewhere a DeMille movie is being shown.

His "King of Kings," made nearly 35 years ago, has never been out of release. His latest, "The Ten Commandments," probably will have the same type run.

I recently toured the DeMille home with Mrs. Cecilia Boughdady, his pretty granddaughter.

Half Museum
It is half home and half museum because of the many honors conferred on DeMille.

Dick Kesner to Quit Welk Band

After Seven Years, Violinist Decides To Go Out on Own

Santa Monica, Calif. —(AP)—Violinist Dick Kesner has decided to quit fiddling with Lawrence Welk.

The Santa Monica Evening Outlook reports in a copyrighted story by Columnist Dave Sheehan that Kesner is quitting the Welk band after seven years to work on his own. Both Kesner and Welk said the parting was amicable, but the deadpan violinist had one complaint.

"I'm tired of having people, especially friends and business acquaintances, firmly believe I'm making $150,000 a year when I'm only getting musicians' base scale," he said.

Does Concert Work
Kesner has been making independent concert appearances about three years.

"Increased bookings, along with opportunities to do recordings independently, prompted the decision to devote full time to my own affairs," he said.

Kesner, whose playing has drawn piles of fan mail from viewers of the Welk TV show, said he has signed a contract with Coral Records.

He'll probably make his final appearance on the Welk show Saturday.

But that's not the main reason for the museum-like atmosphere.

"Grandfather never threw anything away," explains Mrs. Boughdady. "After his death, we looked in the drawer where he kept all his socks. There was a memo, dated 1912, to call a Mr. Russell. He had to move it every time he put on fresh socks."

His copies of London Punch—every issue—go back to 1905, the National Geographic to 1908.

From 70 Movies
There are memorabilia from each of the 70 movies he made. Hollywood, talking about a movie museum, could get a good start in DeMille's house.

The camera used to make "The Squaw Man" in 1913, along with that historic film's first shooting script, are there. That was DeMille's first movie.

Gifts and honors, no matter how trivial, are kept. One Christmas a member of his publicity staff, frustrated at what to choose, sent a cotton bag. With card attached from Paul Simon, it read: "So you've got everything? Well, here's a sack to put it in."

DeMille used it as a chair cover.

Favorite Rocker
His favorite rocking chair is in the living room—completely out of place with the decor but there it will remain permanently. With DeMille's death, the old chair got a stature it didn't have during his lifetime.

As he recalls in his autobiography:

"There is only one bone of contention between Mrs. DeMille and me regarding our home; and Mrs. DeMille has all the other members of the family on her side. Mrs. DeMille is a woman of excellent taste and her taste is reflected in any place where she lives. But I like rocking chairs, and I have an old one in the living room. I have it there, that is, except when Mrs. DeMille periodically decides that it must go. Then it goes."

"It is never thrown away or cropped up for firewood, though. I always find it. Then it comes back, incongruous, utterly out of harmony with all the rest of the furniture. I admit all that; but it is a very comfortable rocker."

DeMille, Hollywood's prophet in celluloid, has a priceless collection of Bibles—one dated 1698 and another, printed in Slavonic, one of the original Russian tongues, is dated 1691. The Holy Book was DeMille's favorite and most profitable source of movie scripts.

The next DeMille project—and it is his despite his death in 1959—is the movie based on the life of Sir Baden Powell, founder of the Boy Scouts.

Mrs. Cecilia Boughdady, granddaughter of the late Hollywood director Cecil B. deMille, holds the crown of thorns used in his classic film, "The King of Kings."

Both Victor Borge, Jack Benny Slated For Special Programs

BY CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Movie-TV Writer

New York —(AP)— There's a powerful lot of television being crowded into the schedules during the seven days, and it ranges all the way from Rex Harrison to Konrad Adenauer.

Victor Borge, the piano-playing Danish comedian, returns to NBC tonight (7:30 to 8:30) with a special, "Accent on Music," with Jane Powell.

There will be more comedy Saturday night, with Jack Benny appearing in one of his occasional specials (9 to 11 p.m. CBS) abetted by Phil Silvers and Polly Bergen. Serious-minded viewers may prefer NBC's "World Wide 60" which Saturday night (8:30 to 9:30) takes up the problem of European refugees.

On Sunday, NBC's "Meet the Press" will interview West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer at a special early hour 3 p.m. Its regular time 5 p.m. has taken over a broadcast of one of the telephone science series, "The Alphabet Conspiracy."

Biographical treatment of jurist Oliver Wendell Holmes, Jr., is scheduled for NBC's American Heritage series show Sunday evening (7 to 8). This one is called "Autocrat and Son," with Cedric Hardwicke, Christopher Plummer, Ann Francis and Ann Harding.

Ed Sullivan on CBS at the same time has a circus show filmed and taped in New York, Tokyo, Moscow and Paris. Then, in addition there is a CBS special, "The Valley of Decision," (8:30 to 10 p.m.) an adaptation of Marcia Davenport's novel starring Lloyd Bridges, the "Sea Hunt" man.

Tuesday brings another Playhouse 90 (7 to 8:30 p.m.) this one called "The Hiding Place" and starring James Mason, Trevor Howard and Richard Basehart.

There also is what may possibly be the highlight of the week—Rex Harrison in "Dear Arthur"—on NBC (7:30 to 8:30 p.m.). This is an adaptation of a Molnar comedy, a high society piece with a Riviera setting, and promises to be a merry outing.

Richard Boone stars as a clown in Wednesday's Steel House (CBS, 9 to 10 p.m.), a poignant drama called "The Charlie and the Kid."

'Who Was That Lady?' Sophisticated Humor

BY CILL OTTE
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

At the Viking theater "Who Was That Lady?" is not a problem.

The question isn't even asked by the wife who catches her chemistry professor husband kissing a shapely girl student. Mrs. will get a divorce, or know the reason why. "The reason why" (not) needs inventing, and husband (Tony Curtis) enlists the ingenuity of his playwright friend, Dean Martin. Together they concoct a duty-for-the-FBI alibi, and eventually the wife (Janet Leigh) is convinced her dream man is a real hero. The plot is quite involved, but rapidly unwinds.

Theater-goers who missed the original version with Peter Lind Hayes and Mary Healy on Broadway will be highly entertained by the on-screen antics of the Curtis-Martin-Leigh trio. They shoot quick-coming and well-timed lines so fast the performance can only make for a howling audience.

James Whitmore portrays the real G-man, has many good lines and one wonders why he doesn't specialize in comedy.

Written by Norman Krasna, "Who Was That Lady?" is situation comedy that includes a game of cops and robbers, flooding the Empire State building basement. Soviet foreign agents at work, a Manhattan apartment with neo-Oriental decor, and two blond showgirls. But sophisticated humor is the highlight of this film.

On the same bill is an award-winning French short subject, "The Golden Fish," a melodrama involving a small boy, villain, tomcat, and a dancing goldfish and canary. It has pathos, suspense, and story-telling background music done on flute and guitar.

'Never Be Afraid of What They Say'

(From "I Married the World" by Elsa Maxwell)

When my father was dying he said to me, "I'm afraid I've nothing to give you except four rules for living, and I believe they'll work for you because you are so much like me. These are the rules, for what they're worth:

"First, never be afraid of what they say. They exist only in your fears. What you do is the only thing that counts. What they say means nothing.

"Second, the more you own, the more you are possessed. Keep free of material things and enjoy life as it comes.

"Third, take serious things lightly. Take light things seriously.

"Fourth, always laugh at yourself first, before others do. There is something ridiculous about every person. Don't be afraid to admit your weaknesses and failures."
